Planners Approve Development For Chandler Road

By Frank Messina

The Planning Board praised a revamped preliminary plan for a proposed 42-unit "Iron Gate I & II" subdivision at I-495 and Chandler Road at their meeting Tuesday night.

Originally a 27-unit project with a single access point along Sparkle Drive that had been described by town planners as "piecemeal," two other landowners in the area have added their properties to the development, solving several environmental and access concerns.

"It's a heckuva improvement over what was going out on there when you had three separate owners and two separate developers," said Steve Colyer, town physical planner.

Negotiations between the Marique, Thibodeau and Mesquita families have pulled together an overall plan for the 21-acre site, of which about 11 acres are protected wetlands.

Instead of a single access from Sparkle Road, the new plan provides a looping connector between Sparkle and Chandler Road with three cul-de-sac streets set between the two roads which provide access to the 42 units designed as a cluster subdivision.

The configuration avoids sensitive wetlands area and town staff indicated they are happy with drainage plans proposed by the developers, Dana Perkins and Associates and Aherncro, Inc.

"The aesthetics are certainly a big improvement over the previous (plan)," said Boardmember Carl Byers.

Meeting Set For June 20

The Board of Selectmen have chosen Monday, June 20, as the date for a Special Town Meeting regarding the proposed collaborative school.

The meeting will take place in the J. Everett Collins Center at 7 p.m.

At their Monday night board meeting, the selectmen were clearly unenthusiastic about taking action on a petition calling for the meeting that was submitted by Citizens for Neighborhood Schools, a group of residents opposing the joint Lawrence/Andover venture.

Engineer Awarded Patent

Dr. Curtis A. Siller, Jr., AT&T Bell Laboratories, North Andover, was recently awarded a patent for co-invention of a circuit architecture that simplifies the transmission of signals in advanced data networks. Patent 4,710,891, entitled "Digital Synthesis Technique for Pulses Having Predetermined Time and Frequency Domain characteristics," is expected to find broad utility in applications ranging from voiceband data to microwave digital radio.

Siller, an Andover resident, joined Bell Laboratories in 1969 after completing studies at the University of Tennessee, Knoxville, where he specialized in plasma physics and electromagnetic theory. His activities have focused on exploratory aspects of aperture antennas, microwave propagation, digital communication theory, signal processing and transmission systems for voice/data networks. He has written more than 30 publications in these areas and holds an earlier patent, with others pending.

Siller is a member of five honorary and three professional societies, including a senior member of the Institute of Electrical and Electronics Engineers. He was named a technical editor in 1984 of a foremost communications journal and received a Bell Laboratories Distinguished Technical Staff Award. He has planned and participated in numerous international conferences.

MacDonald Studying In Russia

Peter K. MacDonald, Jr., a Dartmouth College junior from Andover, is studying Russian in Moscow as a participant in Dartmouth's Foreign Study Program.

Foreign study programs are designed to expand Dartmouth's curriculum into new areas of academic and cultural understanding. Such programs have existed at the college since 1958 when opportunities for intensive study of language, literature and other aspects of civilization were made available in France, Germany and Spain. Now Dartmouth has 18 foreign study programs in 12 countries.

Foreign study programs are appropriate to the Dartmouth Plan, a distinctive four-term, year-round system which provides unprecedented flexibility in individual study patterns and encourages more students to take advantage of opportunities for study abroad.

MacDonald, son of Peter and Donna MacDonald of 40 Farrwood Drive, is a 1985 graduate of Phillips Academy in Andover. He has participated in two foreign study programs, one in London, England, and one in Leningrad, and is a member of the World Affairs Council and Zeta Psi fraternity.

Dartmouth, the ninth oldest college in the United States and the northernmost of the Ivy League institutions, has a total enrollment of some 4,000 undergraduate and nearly 1,000 graduate students.

Serio Represents Lowell At National Presentation

Lynn Serio of Andover was one of 12 University of Lowell students who represented their school at the National Model of the League of Arab State presentations. For the third consecutive year, ULowell was named "outstanding university" at the annual event.

Students from various universities assumed the roles of delegates of member countries in the United Nations at the sixth annual meeting sponsored by the Pan-Ethnon Model U.N. Clubs of American Universities and the National Council of U.S.-Arab Relations. The ULowell team assumed the role of the Algerian mission in the debates.

Town Awarded Funds For Election

Andover has been awarded $2,992 by State Auditor Joseph DeNucci to compensate for the additional polling hours for the 1988 September and November elections.

In issuing the funding DeNucci said, "Increasing polling hours statewide from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. allows citizens additional time to vote, but it also means that the cost of polling has increased."

Cheese Distribution Scheduled

Police Issue Warning On Phone Hoax

Andover Sgt. Kevin Winters wants Andover residents to be aware of a telephone hoax going on in the area.

Winters said the flimflam, reported by residents of North Reading and Reading, works like this: someone calls up using a muffled voice and pretending to be a relative in some kind of trouble; the caller then asks for money.

"People get sucked in," Winters said.

He said no such calls have been reported in Andover, but that doesn't mean they haven't or won't occur. "If you were taken in by a call like that, would you want to tell the police?" Winters said.

League To Conduct Meeting

The education committee of the League of Women Voters of Andover will hold an informational meeting on the collaborative school on Monday, June 6, at 7:30 p.m. at Cooley House, Phillips Academy, Main Street (near the Bell Tower and gymnasium).

Visitors are welcome.

The committee will provide the most current information available about the proposed school in preparation for the special town meeting June 20 to vote on the collaborative school.

Pike Is Studying In Italy

Karen L. Pike, a Dartmouth College sophomore from Andover, is studying Italian in Siena, Italy, as a participant in Dartmouth's Language Study Abroad program.

The programs, offered in four languages and nine cities, are a popular way to meet the college's language proficiency requirement.

Students spend an academic term in a foreign country, living with a local family and attending classes taught by native professors at a local university. The courses cover language, literature, civilization and history, but students are given time to travel on their own and learn about the country.

Pike, daughter of Robert and Mary Pike, 120 Lovejoy Road, is a 1986 graduate of Phillips Academy. She is an undergraduate advisor for incoming freshmen and a member of the Circulo Italiano. Pike has received citations for academic excellence in biology and Italian courses.

Dartmouth, the ninth oldest college in the United States and the northernmost of the Ivy League institutions, has a total enrollment of some 4,000 undergraduate and nearly 1,000 graduate students. The college operates on a distinctive, four-term, year-round system.

Meisinger was trained as a teacher with a degree in English from Chestnut Hill and a M.A. in education from Lehigh University.

She began painting under local artists and has taken workshops around the country. Meisinger has won several prizes for her work. She is a former president of the Andovers Artists Guild, Inc. and co-chaired Art in the Park in Central Park this year.

Roop holds a bachelor of fine arts degree from Beaver College. She has exhibited in galleries in Ogunquit and Goose Rocks, Maine. Roop is a distinguished member of the Concord Art Association and has been chosen twice to be included in the American Mutual Insurance Company calendar.

Teen Center On Horizon

By Kathy Dietz

Andover teenagers. How many times have you wished for a place where you could meet with friends, talk, have a snack, play a game or listen to music, a place just for teens? Andover parents of teens. How many times have you wished that your teenagers had a safe, comfortable, friendly, convenient place to meet with friends after school and on weekends? If your answer is lots, then read on.

Last Thursday, May 19, a group of Andover parents of children ranging in age from three to 27 from all parts of town held a meeting to organize a teen center for the town of Andover. Fourteen of us (Juudy Righitto, Diane Codagon, Pam Carleton, Mary Kay Mann, Ginny Franz, Connie Carroll, Joan Johnson, Lisa Famiglietti, Tina Girdwood, Kathy Dietz, Barbara McGuire, Sandy Minkinen, Sharin Luti and Gina Riddiford) met for nearly two hours to brainstorm for ideas for this much-needed center.

Many topics were discussed—possible activities, hours, management, participants, staffing, rules and programs—but the most important was the purpose of the center. We all felt that Andover teens need a place to congregate and participate in enjoyable activities, a place that is safe and convenient, an alternative to an empty house after school or on Saturday night and a place where different groups of teens can mingle and have fun. Teens would help plan activities, maintain the space, raise funds and, hopefully, increase cohesiveness and gain a group identity which they now seem to lack.

You say, "This sounds great, but where?" Town Manager Ken Mahoney has given tentative permission to use a part of the old town hall, now undergoing renovation. We're ready to get going and hope to have the center operating by early next year.

Two more meetings are scheduled, Thursdays, May 26 and June 9, at 7:30 p.m. in the Town Hall second floor conference room (Bartlet Street entrance). Come and bring a friend. Let's work to make the teen center something the whole town can be proud of.

Advanced Lifesaving Course Offered

The Greater Lawrence Technical School and the Greater Lawrence Chapter of the American Red Cross are offering an advanced lifesaving course at the Tech School pool, 57 River Road, Andover, May 31, June 2, 7, 8, 9, 13 and 15 from 6:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m.

Candidates must be at least 15 years of age, swim 500 continuous yards, do an underwater swim and be able to perform a standing front dive.

According to instructor Marilyn Fitzgerald, area employers are still in need of qualified personnel to take on lifeguarding responsibilities. The supply of certified workers has not kept up with the demand.

Enzo is ready for Spring, even though the weather isn't.

Spring has burst upon the scene at Enzo. And with it, a splash of color that we invite you to discover in our new collection of fine men's clothing.

Look closely at our new sports jackets, the silk suits and wool suits. Along with their traditionally classic style, you'll discover colors that subtly meander throughout the fabric. An opportunity, also, for you to color coordinate your shirt and tie as a complement to your wardrobe.

If you think that pleats or cuffs or lapels are where men's fashions change, then come to Enzo in Andover, where fashion has taken on a bold new look of color. And where quality clothing knows no season.

League Elects New President

Ruth Scarbeau was elected president of the League of Women Voters of Andover at its annual meeting Tuesday, May 17. She assumed the gavel from Jean Salazar who has led the local league for the past two years. Outgoing board members were honored at the dinner meeting at Faith Lutheran Church.

The league voted the following local action agenda for the new year:

1. Town-wide school-aged child care. A review of child care needs surveys and options for kindergarten through middle school-aged children with a view toward helping to coordinate the establishment of a school-aged childcare program.

2. Education, including an update on the collaborative school, the gifted and talented program, alternative high schools, summer school and equal playground facilities.

3. Women's issues, including a survey of medical facilities and programs for women in the Merrimack Valley, an update on services for abused women, the feminization of poverty, choices for reproductive services and a book discussion group of fiction and non-fiction books by and/or about women.

4. "Know Your Town," a new edition of the booklet for new residents with a rewrite of the school section.

The league adopted new study topics for the coming year:

1. Town growth and development, an update of Andover's residential, commercial and industrial growth, including population projections, housing, total build-out, over-riding of local zoning and the impact on town services such as water supply and quality, sewer capacity, roads, traffic and schools, a study of options including, but not limited to, inclusionary zoning, land trusts, land banking and building moratorium.

2. Recreation, an update and restudy of the league's position on recreation and a study of recreational facilities: playgrounds, Pomp's Pond, facility repair and maintenance and new facilities such as a town pool and a teen center.

3. School facility use. This year's local study of school facility use, chaired by Jan Burkholder, will be continued next year.

A league committee will research and study each local study topic. Each committee will present its findings at league unit meetings so that other members can discuss them, come to their own conclusions and see if there is consensus for a league position on the topic.

Scarbeau, a 10-year Andover resident, was president of the South School PTO for the last two years. Other officers are Margie Dennis, program vice president; Elaine Smith, organization vice president; Mary Kay Mann, communications vice president; Connie Travers, secretary; Carol Couture, treasurer. Scarbeau and Dennis will be the local delegates to the national League of Women Voters convention in Denver in June.

Board members will include Sue Dennett, bulletin editor; Linda Tommasino and Linda Borland, voters service; Deborah Paul, education; Margaret Cornell, member records; Helen Eccles, public relations; Susan Broude and Kathleen Fenton, women's issues; Julie Stratton, publications; Margaret Cronin, legislative action; Jean Salazar, finance; Jacqueline Kovacs, unit organization; Jane Twickler, natural resources; Ann Hall, "Know Your Town" editor; Betsy Cullen and Mary Kay Mann, observor corps.

The League of Women Voters is a non-partisan political organization whose purpose is to promote political responsibility through informed and active participation of citizens in government and to act on selected governmental issues. All voters are eligible and the Andover LWV invites new members. Contact Scarbeau, 108 Woburn St.

To Show Shaker Film

The North Andover Historical Society will show a film called The Shakers: Hands to Work, Hearts to God tonight at 7:30.

The Shakers are probably best known for their simple and graceful furniture, but they are less well known for the significant impact their spiritual beliefs had on American culture in the 18th and 19th centuries. Formed and led by "Mother" Ann Lee, the Shakers stressed celibacy and tangible gifts of the Spirit, such as prophecy and ecstatic dancing or "shaking."

The 60-minute color film explores the fascinating history, philosophy and everyday life of the Shakers and contains interviews with two of the last remaining Shaker elders. The film is free of charge and will be shown at the Old Center Hall, 3 Great Pond Road, North Andover.

The historical society will be making its annual spring tour to Shaker Village in Canterbury, N.H. Saturday, June 4 from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Established in 1792, Canterbury is still home to the last two Shaker elders.

June 4 is "Farm Day," and the special events and demonstrations will give participants a glimpse back at life in the communal village. The trip will include a 90-minute walking tour of the ministry house, sister's shop and laundry. There will be plenty of time to explore the herb gardens, exhibits of inventions and gift shop. Lunch at the Creamery is a chance to sample traditional Shaker cooking.

Without clouds and other constituents of the earth's atmosphere, the surface of our planet would reach a temperature of 176 degrees at the equator by day.

BABY TALK

by Jack Resnick

As grandparents of a new-born child, you have a tremendous interest in your grandchild, which will affect the parent's and baby's lives in many ways. You (especially if you live close by) provide emotional and often practical support to the new family. You may help with tasks that the new parents are unfamiliar with, or relieve them of responsibilities when they become tired. Having an experienced, concerned adult around will make their day-to-day routine go more smoothly. Your extra help will undoubtedly be welcome; however, remember you're entering a new situation—go slow!

There is a wonderful selection of baby furniture at TINY TOTLAND. We have everything from pacifiers to strollers. Over 80 cribs on display. Wall decor and lamps. Babies toys for all ages... everything from "heaven to seven". Ask about our free lay-a-way plan. Delivery service. Stop in soon at TINY TOTLAND, 1111 Elm St., Manchester, N.H. ## European Countries Recycle

By Virginia Cole

I have just returned from Europe (The Netherlands, Germany and Austria) where it looks like everyone recycles. On many street corners, in downtown and residential sections, people are seen putting their glass in round holes in large round, vandal-proof glass receptacles. People with small shopping bags empty out the bottles on their way to the grocery stores. Apparently no storing or waiting for the truck; just get rid of excess glass every day.

Newspaper containers are seen, too. These are not as unsightly and do not seem as well used. Perhaps Europeans don't have the volumes of newspapers and magazines we do.

The glass receptacles are emptied by lifting them with a small crane towed behind a big, departmentalized truck. The container is lifted over the appropriate section and some kind of trap door is sprung, out comes the glass, the container is reset on the corner and the truck and crane go on.

With renewed enthusiasm from the state, even I am receiving ads for new kinds of equipment to improve our recycling program. CRINC uses European equipment to sort and process recyclables already collected. Hopefully, we can all catch up soon. CRINC unveiled its new plastics recycling system in North Billerica on May 24. This is based on methods and machinery from Belgium. It will process mixed plastics and produce a lumber-like material strong enough and especially durable for multiple uses. Research was done for this plant at the University of Lowell with grant money from the Commonwealth.

Perhaps Andover can soon add plastics to its recyclables. There is still more to be recovered from the waste stream.

Recycling weeks are May 23-27 and June 6-10.

Sanborn Tries Pilot Science Program

By Julie M. Barry

A fourth-grade class at Sanborn took advantage of last Thursday's rainstorm.

Using water from a homemade rain collector and a pH testing kit, they tested a water sample to determine its acidity.

Two students checked the water. The pH test result was 5.5. Students were somewhat surprised by this almost-neutral result because a comparison of data from elementary students across the country named Massachusetts the state with the second biggest acid rain problem.

The students compared this result with a previous test of Andover's tap water, which also measured 5.5. They also tested Coca Cola and orange juice and discovered that their acidic content was higher.

The students are participating in a pilot science program called National Geographic Kids Network. Acid rain is this year's topic.

Sanborn co-teachers June Blake and Veronica Boutureira spoke highly of the program. "It's been so active, so much fun," Blake said.

Both Blake and Boutureira explained that the students are learning by conducting hands-on science experiments and then comparing their results with those of other students.

First, the students conduct an experiment. Then they input their data into a computer and send the information to Washington, D.C., where scientists combine and compare the data with other schools. This information is sent back to Sanborn via computer within 48 hours. The students discuss and interpret the various results.

"We're all investigating; we're all learning together," Blake said.

The learning isn't coming from books. The students are learning how to get, compare and evaluate data, Boutureira said. She says they question the results, rather than just accept them.

Blake said some of Sanborn's data has been different than other schools', and that these variances make the students question their data. "It opens everyone's mind, including my own," she said. "There's a lot of questions to be answered."

"I think they've learned a process—a scientific way of looking at things," Boutureira said.

Most students responded similarly when asked what they had learned about acid rain. "I never knew how much it was affecting us. But now I know, and I want to stop it," said Debra Sabbath.

"There's acid in our foods and drinks," said Brian Kwonn. "You don't usually think that."

The Spell Of Success

Sixth-graders Wendy Chen and Mark Sabath battled it out for the first-place title in their division of last week's spelling bee.

The fifth annual Isabelle Dobbie Spelling Bee was a nail-biting contest, held Tuesday, May 17, at West Elementary School.

Wendy, a West student, and Mark, who goes to Sanborn, spelled words like "colossus" and "saunter" with little difficulty. It was when they got to "pygmy" that the trouble started.

One spelled the word "p-i-g-m-y," and the other spelled it "p-i-g-m-e."

"Prophecy" was the deciding factor between the sixth-graders. After Wendy misspelled the word, her rival spelled "prophecy" and then "wanderer" correctly to win the first-place title. Wendy became the sixth-grade runner-up.

Maxi Soong of South Elementary placed first in the fifth-grade category. Melanie Spencer of Sanborn School was the fifth-grade runner-up.

Wendy Chen of West Elementary misspells "prophecy" and comes in second to Mark Sabath, behind her, the Sanborn student who won the sixth-grade first-place title.

South's Maxi Soong placed first in the fifth-grade spelling bee.

SADD Aims For Safe Season

By Katie Pakos

The Andover High School chapter of Students Against Driving Drunk has made sure Andover students are aware of the dangers of drinking and driving. Knowing of the celebration that often accompanies the upcoming season, SADD members have organized activities for the student body and community during May in an attempt to insure a safe prom and graduation period.

"We're just doing all we can to prevent senseless accidents during this time of celebration. We want everyone to know how important it is to celebrate smart," said Lisa Herrmann, SADD officer.

SADD member met in front of Andover Bank on Saturday, May 14, to sell baked goods and hand out literature. Others washed windshields in town and left flyers under wipers which read, "We hope you'll see clearly to drive sober." The entire student body gathered in the J. Everett Collins Center on Thursday, May 19, for the annual pre-prom assembly. The program featured Pam Daly, a speaker from the governor's Alliance Against Drugs who was paralyzed in a drunk-driving accident her senior year in high school.

SADD was represented at Clown Town on Saturday, May 21, with the Community A.S.K. Team at a booth providing information about drug and alcohol prevention projects in Andover. SADD products (keychains, bumper stickers, boxer shorts and sweat pants) have been on sale in the high school cafeteria for the past two weeks. Students who purchased SADD products or who returned a SADD Contract for Life signed by themselves and their parents entered their names in a drawing to be held tomorrow for gift certificates donated by McDonald's, Tropical Illusions, Emack and Bollo's, Backstreet, Movies and More, Showcase Cinemas, Salem Raquetball Club and The Butler's Pantry.

The prom will take place tomorrow night at the Andover Marriott Hotel. Each student will receive a complimentary SADD keychain and a card with a dime attached to be used if the student does not have a safe ride home. Doran's Taxi Service has agreed to provide Andover students with free rides home until 3 a.m.

"We're doing all we can," said Lou Lopresti, SADD vice president. "If we prevent one needless death on prom night, our efforts will have been very worthwhile."

West Holds Open House

West Junior High School will be holding its annual open house, educational round-up and "WESTern barbecue" today. This year's theme is "Middle School Welcome."

An orientation for fifth-grade students and their parents will begin in West's auditorium at 5 p.m.; sixth-graders and parents will have theirs at 6. During orientation, staff members will be introduced, the program of study will be outlined, and procedures, policies and practices will be highlighted.

During the open house and barbecue, classroom presentations will be going on throughout the school. Parents of fifth-through ninth-grade students are invited, as well as anyone interested in touring the school.

A musical concert at 7:45 in the auditorium will conclude the evening. Contact the school for reservations.

Acid Rain

The half-year science course integrates several skills—and students. A mixture of special needs and regular education students use a variety of skills—science, geography, computer and language arts, according to the teachers.

Students not only send and receive scientific information on the computer, but they also write letters to other schools on the system.

This enabled the Sanborn students to get first-hand information about the PEP-CON explosion and how it affected students and their families from Henderson, Nev.

Auto Care

The Museum of Transportation at Larz Anderson Park, 15 Newton St., Brookline, will host a lecture Monday, June 6, from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. for those with little or no mechanical and/or practical knowledge about cars. Topics include choosing a repair facility, preventative maintenance, dealing with mechanics, breakdowns and car theft.

Enrollment is limited to 30. To register, call Mary Wiseman at the museum.

Senior Activities Planned

Tomorrow night is Andover High School's junior/senior prom at the Andover Marriot. And Wednesday, June 1 is the day AHS seniors will be visiting Riverside Amusement Park.

Jazz Ensemble Wins Gold

The Andover All-Town Junior High Jazz Ensemble received a gold medal for its performance Wednesday, May 11 at the Eastern Massachusetts Junior High School Jazz Festival, held at West Elementary School.

The group, directed by Steven Piermarini, won the championship of Class A in the festival, which showcased 12 of the best junior high jazz ensembles from the eastern part of the state.

This achievement marks two firsts: the first gold medal the all-town group has won and the first time Andover has hosted the festival. The annual festival is sponsored by the Massachusetts chapter of the National Association of Jazz Educators, for which Piermarini serves as the junior high chairman of the northeast and southeast districts.

The groups were evaluated by noted specialists in jazz education, and each group received an ensemble clinic with one of the evaluators.

Other accolades awarded the ensemble include certificates for outstanding musicianship, which went to Amy Ferraro, trumpet; David Lewin, alto saxophone; and Amanda Witman, piano.

The other members of the group are Dennis Aikman, Kurt Ballou, Seth Blumsack, Doug Cullen, Emily Holt, Peter Ikemoto, John Kulcsar, Johanna McLean, Stephen McNulty, Ben Medler, Joshua Payne and Geoff Schaake.

When the Olympic games were revived in 1896, one of the events was tug-of-war.

Hearing Problems Sometimes Come In Pairs

People experiencing a loss of hearing often have not one hearing problem, but two, according to hearing health care professionals. The first problem is that hearing-impaired individuals do not hear as well as they could, a condition that can have a far-reaching impact on their lives.

The second problem is that these individuals often don't want to hear about problem number one, often because of embarrassment or the belief that loss of hearing is a sign of old age. And their reluctance to admit to a problem prevents them from getting help.

If you have an identified hearing loss, have your hearing evaluated annually, regardless of the diagnosed cause.

If you do not have an identified hearing loss, have a professional hearing screening every four or five years to detect a possible hearing loss early.

If you are over age 60, your hearing should be tested periodically since hearing loss is frequently a partner of the normal aging process. (One in three persons over 60 has a hearing loss).

15,000,000 Americans are victims of recurring headaches that strike without warning. These chronic sufferers spend hundreds of millions of dollars a year for remedies that give only temporary relief. (Report from a U.S. Public Health Service) Occasional mild headaches associated with eye strain, smog, over-eating, etc., are not included in these statistics. It's the chronic recurring headaches that are dangerous.

How many times have you heard someone say "it's just a headache and it will go away if I just rest a while and take some aspirin." Deadening the pain is a very temporary measure at best. It is the cause of the headache that should be considered.

The greatest danger of recurrent headaches is that we tend to ignore them. We attach little importance to them because they become common part of our lives. We hope it will go away. But we tend to forget that a headache is not a disease, but a symptom and is one of the most potent warning signs of the human body. Strangely enough, we often ignore this cry for help.

Problems in the cervical spine due to misalignment of the vertebrae which cause traction of the musculature and nerve inflammation has long been recognized as a source of headache problems. Maintaining the alignment of the cervical spine and its components (muscles, ligaments, and nerves) is important in maintaining one's health and reducing the occurrence of problems such as headaches. Chiropractors specialize in detection of spinal problems that can cause recurrent headaches. They deal with the cause of the problem and not just relief of symptoms.

If you suffer from recurrent headaches, you may want to consider Chiropractic as an alternative. It has been proven effective time and time again, and is the most conservative approach to health care since Chiropractic doesn't involve the use of medications or surgery.

Save Sight

The National Society to Prevent Blindness-Massachusetts Affiliate estimates that nearly 50,000 individuals will become blind this year and nearly half of these tragedies could be prevented.

With regular eye exams, early diagnosis and treatment of eye disorders and use of protective eyewear in situations hazardous to the eye, some 25,000 people could save their sight this year.

Although the prevalence of blindness increases with age, threats to sight exist at every age.

Glaucoma, a leading cause of blindness, can generally be controlled with medications. Regular eye exams and early detection and treatment are crucial to guard against this often symptomless disease. Any vision lost to glaucoma cannot be restored.

Diabetic Retinopathy, a leading cause of new blindness in adults under 75, can often be treated by laser if detected in the early stages. Every diabetic is at risk for the condition and should schedule regular examinations with an eye care specialist, whether or not symptoms have appeared.

For more information, contact the National Society to Prevent Blindness-Massachusetts Affiliate, 375 Concord Avenue, Belmont, MA 02178.

IF YOU'RE A BUSINESS IN SEARCH OF A BANK...

"... Arlington Trust took our business plan and turned it into reality."

Architect: Kallman McKinnell & Wood, Boston
Ceiling Contractor: Environmental Interiors Corporation, Hudson, NH

When Bill and David Shannon decided to form Shannon Corporation in 1985, they submitted a detailed business plan to five banks. Arlington Trust Company was the first to respond to their request for financial backing.

"We represent manufacturers of specialty architectural products for architects working on custom projects," explained Bill. Products like the stainless steel ceilings in Boston's Copley Place Westin Hotel or the specialty metal column covers in the atrium of International Place. "We take the architect's designs and turn them into reality — much like Arlington Trust took our business plan and turned it into reality."

"From the beginning, Arlington Trust Company has given us immediate response . . . immediate decisions . . . immediate assistance," said David. "That's the kind of service you need when you have a growing business."

Arlington Trust Company has been responding to the needs of businesses for nearly 100 years. If you're a business in search of a bank, come to Arlington Trust.

Anthony Correnti, left, and C.J. Dadd, both South Elementary fifth-graders, will be honored next month at an Environmental Protection Agency awards ceremony.

Boys To Be Honored By EPA

Two South Elementary School fifth-graders received recognition in the Environmental Protection Agency's Elementary Education Ecology Poem and Poster Program.

Anthony Correnti, son of Anthony and Doreen Correnti of Tilton Lane, will be in the main ballroom of the Park Plaza Hotel in Boston Wednesday, June 1 to receive honors for his acid rain poster.

C.J. Dadd, son of Neil and Sue Dadd of Abbot Street, will be with his classmate at the Park Plaza for his plaque. C.J. wrote a rap about pollution in the Boston Harbor.

According to Paul G. Keough, the EPA deputy regional administrator who notified the boys of their awards, the accomplishment is "quite a distinction since thousands of entries from all six New England states were submitted, and only about 90 received top honors from our judging panel."

C.J.'s rap goes like this:

*Help the fish and water
In the Boston Harbor
Because they're being hurt
By the junk and dirt
The kids have stopped their jumping
Because of all that dumping
There are 90 million pounds
Of sewage in the harbor
The people really hate it
Because they have bad water
So please don't you dump anything
Into our great water
But won't you give a little money
To save the Boston Harbor
This has been my rap
From me to you and you*

Chamber Opposes Pay Cut

The base pay for Massachusetts legislators should stay at $40,000, according to the Greater Lawrence Chamber of Commerce. At its monthly meeting, the board of directors voted to accept a resolution submitted by the chamber's government affairs committee which calls for the Greater Lawrence chamber to oppose the referendum question which would roll back legislators' base salary to $30,000.

Robin Neill, chairman of the government affairs committee, said that the decision of the Greater Lawrence chamber to oppose the referendum question and support the higher pay was a unanimous one. "Both the board and the government affairs committee believe that the work load on legislators demands a modern salary. While we felt that the procedure used by the legislature to give themselves this raise was not in keeping with acceptable practices, the fact is they have not had an increase in nearly seven years. In addition, we believe that a more realistic salary will attract more people to run for office," he said. "The political process could use more competition and better pay can help increase that competition."

The ballot question, initiated by the Massachusetts Republican Party, will appear on the November General Election ballot statewide. If the question receives a majority vote in favor of the pay cut, legislators elected in November will see their base pay slashed by 25 percent starting in January 1989.

Neill said that the idea of opposing the ballot question grew out of a meeting at the State House between Greater Lawrence Area state representatives and members of the chamber in April. "At our meeting, the legislators expressed their dismay at the likelihood of having their salaries cut," he explained.

Trends in Kitchen and Bath Design

by Kevin Hennessey and Sean Walsh

One of the most cost-effective ways to add space to a kitchen is to remove clutter. Many kitchen counters are loaded with little-used, extraneous electrical gadgets that rob counters of space. This is not to say that the coffee machine must be dragged out of a cabinet each morning for use. However, there are a number of storage techniques available for stashing away most other kitchen accessories. Many do not require an overhaul of the kitchen cabinets or storage areas. Instead, retro-fit inserts can be added to existing cabinetry for a more efficient utilization of storage space. The end result is clear counters without having to build a bigger kitchen.

Many people forgo beauty and style for practicality. This is not a necessity. With careful thought and consideration, your room can be both appealing and practical. Here at VARIATIONS IN WOOD, INC., we have just that formula for you. Practicality and beauty can and will go hand in hand with our designs. We will visit your home and estimate the type of kitchen that meets your needs and fits your budget. Our beautiful showroom will give you the opportunity to see cabinetry crafted for its beauty, ease of maintenance and affordable prices. You will find us conveniently located at 2370 Turnpike St., Route 114. To reach us, call 445-4444.

AT&T Gets Award

AT&T Network Systems in North Andover received a patriotic service award for 55 percent employee participation in the payroll savings plan.

AT&T Network Systems was one of 10 companies recognized locally as major supporters of the 1987 savings bonds campaign which enrolled 41,000 new and increased savers. Rod M. Trombly accepted the award on behalf of AT&T employees at a luncheon hosted by Charles A. Zrak, president and CEO of the MITRE corporation and Boston campaign chairman, opening the 1988 U.S. Savings Bonds effort in eastern Massachusetts.

"The value of holdings by Americans in U.S. Savings Bonds for the first time in history surpassed $100 billion," said Vermont Governor Madeleine M.

Kunin. "More and more Americans are coming to understand that U.S. Savings Bonds are indeed the great American investment."

Klein, Hale Reveive SBANE Awards

Two local residents, Martin Klein of Abbot Street and Bruce Hale of Salem Street, received the Small Business Association of New England's innovation award, The New Englander, at the New Englander Award Reception and Dinner Tuesday, May 17 at the World Trade Center in Boston. The event was part of the festivities of the 1988 New England Business Conference.

Klein is president of Klein Associates Inc., based in Salem, N.H.

It was "selected for its innovative use of sonar technology that allows objects submerged in deep water to be located. Their devices were used to uncover parts of the Challenger Space Shuttle and the Titanic," according to an article in the May issue of SBANE Enterprise.

Hale is the president of TRAVCORPS Inc., based in Malden.

He was "selected for creating a company that provides a unique and a beneficial service that is a win-win for both its clients, the health care industry and its customers, registered nurses," according to the article.

The article states that "the companies were selected for demonstrating success in developing an innovative idea, method or device which they successfully integrated into their companies."

Late Filing Produces Fines

The Internal Revenue Service warns employers they could face a $50 fine for each late W-2 form needed by their employees for filing their 1987 taxes.

By law, employees should have received their W-2 forms no later than February 1, 1988.

"Those employers with a large number of workers could find late delivery of the Wage and Tax Statements costing them thousands of dollars. Each late form carries a $50 fine," said Boston District Director Gerard R. Esposito.

"Employees still waiting for their W-2 forms should contact their employers immediately and verify their correct mailing address. If after a week or two there is no response from the employer, the employee should contact the IRS for assistance," Esposito said.

For IRS assistance, call toll-free 1-800-424-1040. Be prepared to supply the IRS with the employer's complete address, including zip code, phone number and, if possible, employer identification number, often found on pay stubs. They'll also want your name, address and social security number.

Spellers

At the end, Superintendent of Schools Kenneth Seifert gave the winners and runners-up silver plates that read "Andover Spelling Bee" and the students' places and grades.

Every elementary school held fifth- and sixth-grade spelling bees during the school year. The first- and second-place winners from all four schools—Bancroft, Sanborn, South and West elementaries—attended the bee.

The American wild-life sheet of 50-stamps was the most popular stamp of 1987 as voted by readers of stamp newspapers. It also took top honors as the best designed stamps of the year.

Stamp Votes

The animal native to each state was shown in its natural beauty.

Second and third most popular stamps were the locomotive booklet, and the lace-making block of four. Voters chose the "signing of the Constitution" stamp as the most important stamp issued during the year.

Lee Cooper with Tom MacPherson, realtor

Home Show Gets To; Rating

Lee Cooper, originally of Andover, producer of Home Showcase, a show for prospective home buyers, says it's one the ratings people never counted on.

Home Showcase, which airs Sundays at 10 a.m., is the highest rated show in the New Hampshire viewing area before 4 p.m. That includes General Hospital during the week, The Smurfs and PeeWee Herman on Saturday and even NFL football on Sunday.

According to a December, 1987, Nielsen rating, the national rating service, Home Showcase, an Austin Agency production, reaches 14,000 households. The nearest competitor, Showcase of Homes, reaches 2,000 households.

Cooper, the former Lee Breckinridge of Andover, says the show is successful because it provides a service. "It seems we tapped a need in the area," she said. "Obviously, southern New Hampshire is one of the top five or 10 hottest growth spots in the U.S. right now. Because of the lifestyle and positive business climate, people and companies are moving in from all around the country."

"People like to compare," Cooper added. "Just look at the success of Lifestyles of the Rich and Famous, or even This Old House. Not everyone is buying today, but we all like to see how much certain houses cost, or how the value of our neighborhood is going up or down."

She said the real estate agents like the concept of the show too. "...it gives them one more way to serve their customers (the home sellers). The majority of house-hunting is done on the weekend, and this is early enough in the day so a realtor can announce an open house for the same day. Or they can plan extra staffing if they plan to show a large number of homes on one Sunday."

If the show continues to be successful, Cooper says the format may be expanded in several yet-to-be revealed ways.

The word shampoo comes from the Hindu word shampu, which means to press.

Like Boston, New Jersey had a "tea party" during the mounting friction between the colonies and Great Britain. At Greenwich, near Delaware Bay, young men in Indian costumes burned a shipload of tea from England in 1774.

Concert

The Indian Hill Chamber Players will perform in the Parker Gallery at the Whistler House Museum, 243 Worthen St., Lowell, Saturday, June 4, at 8 p.m.

The program will consist of Mozart's "clarinet Quintet in A," Dahle's "Concerto a Tre" and Dvorak's "String Quartet in Eb."

Training Program

North Shore Community College in Beverly seeks a limited number of concerned and caring individuals to participate in a free six-month training program designed to prepare for careers in working with the mentally retarded.

Funded by a grant from the newly developed Massachusetts Department of Mental Retardation, the program will begin June 20 and run through mid-December. Participants will earn 6 college credits while learning about opportunities in the field, developing skills for fostering growth and the fulfillment of potential of mentally retarded clients and working under supervision with clients. All tuition and materials will be paid by the grant and stipends will be paid for the summer and fall field experiences. Local job placement at a minimum wage of $16,000 per year is guaranteed for all persons who complete the program; part-time work will also be available.

For details and further information, contact Maggie LaBella at NSCC's Division of Continuing Education.

Brahms' Requiem To Be Featured

The Merrimack Philharmonic Orchestra will accompany the Lawrence Choral Arts Society and the Andover Choral Society in a performance of Johannes Brahms' "A German Requiem" on Saturday, June 4, at 7 p.m. at St. Anne's Church, 365 Haverhill St., Lawrence, under the direction of John Cice and with professional soloists Priscilla Ganley and James Kleyla.

The Merrimack Valley Philharmonic, under the direction of George Monseur, is completing its 27th season of providing quality orchestral music to the Merrimack Valley. This season's performances included the works of Haydn, Rachmaninoff, Tchaikovsky, Strauss and Mahler as well as an annual family Christmas concert and Young Person's Concert.

The performance of "A German Requiem" brings the tenth celebration season of the Lawrence Choral Arts Society to an end. Cice, its director and founder, has conducted this choral society of 60 members in performances of Respighi's "Laud to the Nativity" and Dubois' "The Seven Last Words of Christ" during the 1987-88 season.

The Andover Choral Society, directed by George Redman, is completing its 59th year with this performance. The choral group presented a concert featuring the works of the great composers of the Renaissance and the Baroque, including Bach, Gabriele, Handel, Monteverdi, Purcell and Schutz.

Ganley, soprano, studied voice at the Juilliard School of Performing Arts and the Cleveland Institute of Music and continued her studies in Rome, Italy, with the late

Luigi Ricci and at the American Institute of Musical Studies in Graz, Austria. She was a finalist in the 1987 Queens Opera Competition in Queens, N.Y., a 1985 finalist for the Opera Company of Philadelphia/Luciano Pavarotti International Voice Competition and a finalist in the Metropolitan Opera New England Regional Auditions in 1981-82. She has performed with the Ash Lawn Opera Festival, Opera New England, Boston Lyric Opera, the Ensemble Theater of Cambridge, Lowell Opera Company, Merrimack Lyric Opera and the Opera Company of Boston. Ganley has performed to critical acclaim in "Carmen," "Carmina Burana," "Daughter of the Regime" and "Die Fledermaus."

Kleyla, baritone, has performed with several opera companies and orchestras, under the direction of the likes of Seiji Ozawa and John Oliver. He received an Opera Theater Scholarship from Boston University and was awarded a 1984 fellowship to the Berkshire Music Festival at Tanglewood. Kleyla has performed as soloist with the Boston Symphony Orchestra, The Boston Lyric Opera, Banchetto Musicale, Boston Concert Opera and the Gold Coast Opera Theater of South Florida. His operatic roles have included Masetto in "Don Giovanni," Escamillo in "Carmen" and Schaunard in "La Boheme." He has also performed in Handel's "Messiah," Haydn's "Creation," Beethoven's "Missa Solemnis" and the Verdi "Requiem."

To Present Original Play

The award-winning Garrett Players have announced the premiere on Friday, June 10, of an original play, "Crumbs," at Kemper Theater, Bradford College, Haverhill. The show will run Friday, and Saturday, June 10 and 11, at 8 p.m. and Sunday, June 12, at 2 p.m.

"We feel it was a real coup for the Garrett Players to get our hands on such a wonderful, original script. We are pleased to be presenting its world premiere for an audience in the Merrimack Valley where the story takes place," said Wayne Leocatta, Garrett Players president and producer of "Crumbs." "The fact the author is also directing the show makes it a double treat."

The play was written by Mary Jane Jennings, a professional actress for many years and owner of the Rehearsal Company, a Methuen acting studio. She is also directing "Crumbs," her first project with the Garrett.

"Crumbs" introduces the fictitious Barrett family, a neurotic Irish-Catholic clan gathered for a momentous Sunday dinner. Matriarch Rose Barrett is awaiting the arrival of her long-estranged brother, Dutch, to whom she has not spoken in nine years.

As the afternoon progresses through comedic remembrances of days past, it becomes increasingly doubtful that Dutch will show. Whether he does is saved for the heart-wrenching curtain on Act II. The audience is treated to the delightful antics of the Barrett family: Rose; her husband, Connie; son, Georgie; daughters, Jennie, Lou and Maggie; cousin, Eileen, and close neighbors, Tillie and Nick Somma.

"The local audience will appreciate names and places that are very familiar to them," said Jennings. "The play is written as a bittersweet, dramatic comedy. Its purpose is to entertain, but also to make people realize how precious a family, warts and all, really is."

The Garrett Players production is funded by a grant from the Lawrence Arts Lottery Council. At the request of Jennings, one dollar from each opening-night ticket sold will be donated to Creative Living Inc., a respite-care home for the mentally retarded.

Creative Living is also sponsoring an opening night party at the Red Raven Restaurant in Methuen immediately following the performance to meet the cast.

Students Present 'Harvey'

"Harvey," the classic tale about an invisible white rabbit, will appear on the stage of Governor Dummer Academy's Thompson Auditorium Friday and Saturday, May 27 and 28, at 8 p.m.

The comedy was first performed on Broadway in November 1944.

The all-student production is being directed by senior Martha Wise of Beverly Farms; assistant director is junior Mike Hyder of Methuen.

Todd Seeley, a junior and stage veteran from North Hampton, N.H., stars as eccentric Elwood P. Dowd, who has an imaginary friend, Harvey. Denice Hannon, a senior from North Andover, is Dowd's sister, Louise Simmons.

Other cast members include Bethany Stewart, a freshman from Topsfield; Betsy

Mike Todd, a junior from Beverly, is technical director and set designer; Sepp Spenlinhauer, a junior from Hingham, is lighting director; Jill Goldman, a senior from Andover, is artistic director; and Beth Sheehan, a senior from Duxbury, is costume and makeup director.

'Grease'

Meeting

However, as Selectmen Jim Barenboim pointed out, the selectmen were restricted solely to setting a date for the special meeting.

Selectman Gerald Silverman favored holding the meeting early morning July 4, which he said would guarantee large attendance.

But, Chairman William Downs pointed out that the selectmen were required to set a date within 45 days of the petition's May 16 submission to town hall.

The issue was originally scheduled to come before voters at last month's town meeting. The warrant was withdrawn by the school support group, the Citizens for Excellence in Education, whose leaders said town residents hadn't been presented enough information to make an informed decision.

CNS decided to press the issue themselves and collected over 400 signatures on a petition calling for a town meeting, well over the 200-plus necessary, to decide the controversy.

WEDNESDAY: Cheese pizza, potato chips, carrot sticks, frosted cake, milk.

Gardeners To Have Their Days

June 5-11 is National Garden Week.

"Garden Week is a time for appreciation by the gardeners for the regularity of the seasons, the soil, the sun, the rain and the knowledge we have gained in using these to carry through from seed to blossom," said Ruth Pasley in the May-June issue of The National Gardener magazine.

Barbara Wicks-Calnan, president of a local federated garden club, said gardeners have banded together to let people in their states know about the week. Recent state legislative sessions in Maine, Oregon, Virginia and Tennessee have established Garden Week the first full week of June, she said.

"This is the year for Andover to start celebrating Garden Week," said Calnan, president of the Four Seasons Garden Club. She made several suggestions residents can do to promote the event:

- Insert announcements in church and club calendars.
- Make eye-catching posters and hang them in populated areas.
- Plant a packet of seeds outside the window of a shut-in so he or she can watch their daily progress.
- Plant a few seeds in a barren spot you pass by often.
- Give a packet of seeds to a favorite child to plant.
- Give a half hour of time to weed or mulch a garden for someone who can no longer bend to do the chore.

Calnan says she wants to know what you're doing for Garden Week. "We can coordinate your ideas and start planning

C-School Committee Accused Of Meeting In Secret

The Collaborative School Committee has been ordered to submit minutes of its meetings to the Essex County district attorney.

Although there is no due date for submitting the minutes, according to committee member Margo Tilghman, she says compiling that information won't be a problem.

"Dennis (Richards, Collaborative School Project director) kept meticulous notes of the meetings," Tilghman said.

Of the three times the committee has met, the first two were not posted, Tilghman said.

According to a letter sent by Assistant District Attorney Robert Bender, holding the meetings without posting them was a violation of the law.

"It was a misunderstanding of the law," Tilghman said. She says the committee had actively discussed the issue, but didn't feel posting the meetings was necessary.

The committee is made up of two representatives from the Andover School Committee, Tilghman and Richard Neal; Andover's superintendent of schools, Kenneth Seifert; two members of the Lawrence School Committee, Carol Bannon and Betty La-Charite; Lawrence's superintendent, James Scully; and Project Director Richards.

The collaborative school, if adopted, is scheduled for September 1990. The kindergarten through eighth-grade school would house 1,200 students—800 would be from Lawrence, 400 from Andover.

A special Town Meeting has been scheduled for June 20 to vote on the proposed Andover-Lawrence school. It will be held at 7 p.m. in the J. Everett Collins Center.

Board Rejects Marland Hills

Reluctantly, the Planning Board turned down preliminary plans for a five-home subdivision located at 32 Marland Street near Ballardvale at their meeting Tuesday night.

With legal questions confusing a critical access issue, the board appeared willing to delay a decision on the preliminary plan until lawyers for both sides could be consulted.

However, Stephan Stapinski of Merrimack Engineering, representing property owners Gerald and Julien Levesque, pushed for an immediate vote.

The board turned down the project 5-0, agreeing with town Physical Planner Steve Colyer, who leveled several criticisms at the preliminary plans submitted by Stapinski.

Colyer questioned the legal status of Marland Street, which ends shortly before the access point of the proposed "Marland Hills."

At this time, the identity of the owner of the land upon which an extended Marland Street would run is uncertain, said Colyer.

The critical point is, "Can you get back there?" asked Colyer.

Stapinski said his research showed the town took over the property during an earlier land-swap.

Refusing to get into a debate on the issue, the board indicated that the issue should be researched further.

Town legal counsel Robert Zollner said the board should be more concerned over whether access conforms to town bylaws.

Colyer also singled out natural, protected land formations, the unusual shape of certain lots and what he called an overall "intense" proposal for the five lots.

Colyer had detailed his comments in a Nov. 30, 1987 letter to Stapinski.

In a pre-meeting memo to the board, Colyer noted that "not one of the five concerns listed in my November 1987 letter were satisfactorily addressed."

Stapinski argued that access should not be a problem, either legally or from a planning point of view.

When town staff pointed out that eskers—a narrow ridge of sand and gravel—are protected by town law, Stapinski said that if the literal definition of an esker is used, a lot of sand and gravel ridges have been demolished to make way for other housing developments.

Still, "nobody has shown there is access (to the site) and that it can be developed that intensely," said Colyer.

Board member Donald Ellsworth said "I agree with staff comments. It's a heavy use of property."

Before the board could vote on the preliminary plan, board member Carl Byers questioned whether a vote should be taken before the access question was decided.

"We've heard the legal arguments,"

Eagle-Tribune Wins Pulitzer Prize

The Lawrence Eagle-Tribune brought home journalism's most prestigious award Monday—the Pulitzer Prize.

The Pulitzer Prizes, announced March 31 in 14 journalism and seven literary categories, were formally awarded in a low-key ceremony at Columbia University, which administers the prizes.

The Eagle-Tribune won in the general news category for its series chronicling the flaws in the Massachusetts prison furlough program.

"To be the best of the best is a truly remarkable attainment," Michael I. Sovern, president of Columbia University, told the 200 journalists, writers and guests in the Low Library rotunda. "Because of your strength in public vision and concern, because of your devotion, you have earned a special place... You have helped change the way we see ourselves."

Editor Daniel J. Warner accepted the award on behalf of the Eagle-Tribune and acknowledged Publisher Irving Rogers, Jr. and the principal reporters on the furlough stories, Susan Forrest and Barbara Walsh, who also attended the luncheon.

"It was very impressive," Warner said of receiving the award. "It means we've attained journalism's highest honor."

Some of the Pulitzer Prize jurors expressed to Warner and other Eagle-Tribune staff members present at the ceremony how impressed they were by the quality of reporting in the series, Warner said. The Eagle-Tribune was one of 137 entries in the general news category.

"This is the best of the best," said Rogers, who is also publisher of the Andover TOWNSMAN. "I was very proud for the paper, the (Rogers) family and the people in the newsroom."

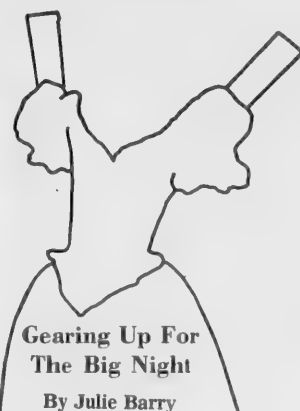

Lawrence Eagle-Tribune Editor Daniel J. Warner, reporter Barbara Walsh, Publisher Irving Rogers, Jr. and reporter Susan Forrest were in New York Monday to accept the paper's Pulitzer Prize.

The Pulitzer Prize, a certificate encased in a blue book, will be displayed in the Eagle-Tribune foyer.

"We will hold it to be sort of a sacred honor to serve the reader," Warner said.

Gearing Up For The Big Night

By Julie Barry

Gone are the days when a high school prom was a glorified dance—a one-night dress-up occasion.

Today, the celebration often includes limousines, parties and get-away weekends. The added luxuries have upped the price of the traditional high school affair. Even though some students admit it's a "rip-off," they still contend

What seems to be an invasion from Mars on the Park is really just one of the many rides enjoyed by hundreds of people during Saturday's Clown Town sponsored by the Andona Society.

Eric LaRochelle didn't have any problem getting the football through the tire, unlike several other people his age who attempted the game.

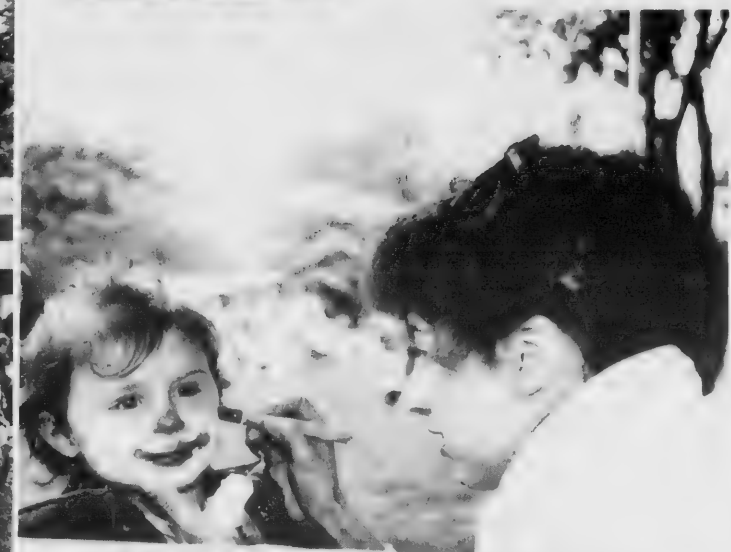

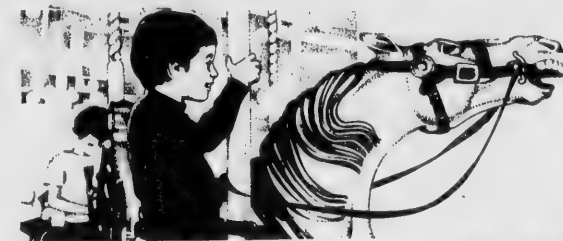

From his perch in the gazebo, disc jockey Ted Teichert plays top 40 music, keeping everyone in a festive mood.

Townsmen photos by Matthew Sapienza

There were plenty of rides and games to choose from during Saturday's event, one favorite among young and old was the merry-go-round.

Mary Flood takes on the look of the day with a bit of face paint.

Andover's favorite gathering spot turned into a three-ring circus last Saturday when the Andona Society held their annual Clown Town.

Not Endorsed

Citizens for Neighborhood Schools (CNS) have succeeded in getting a special town meeting called for June 20 to act on the proposed Lawrence-Andover Collaborative School.

It is an example of the Democratic process, which CNS, through its spokesman Jack Dziadul, claims the TOWNSMAN is out to destroy.

In a letter appearing in The Public Forum in this week's issue, Mr. Dziadul makes reference to the editorial appearing here a week ago which he claims issued misleading and erroneous statements.

The initial contention is that the TOWNSMAN issued editorial support for the collaborative school in its Oct. 29 issue.

There was no support given the project at that time nor has any been given since.

The Oct. 29 issue simply points out that consideration should be given the project and that opponents at that time had some rather weak points on which to base their objections to the proposal.

Our main point a week ago was that the time element for acting on such an important matter is invalid, if the town is being asked to make a decision on June 20.

It was agreed prior to the April annual town meeting that additional time was necessary to get information to the people, to allow for surveys, etc., and to determine if there was sufficient volunteer student support for Andover participation.

Nothing has changed from that point.

A fall town meeting timetable was established and should be adhered to.

But, the Democratic process guarantees that if a sufficient number of signatures are secured, then a special town meeting must be called and the selectmen followed that process Monday night.

There is little doubt a quorum will be obtained that night, but the decision rendered by those present may not be the best since there will still be information lacking.

Mr. Dziadul, who has been emphasizing lately that his remarks at the outset of the collaborative school discussion last fall were taken out of context by the media, notes that the TOWNSMAN contends that town meeting has outlived its usefulness and is opposed to a secret ballot.

The calling of a special meeting on June 20 is a classic example of town meeting outliving its usefulness.

The rush to judgment best exemplifies what special interests can do to a community which is compelled to make decisions through town meeting action.

Not only have the opponents called for the meeting, but have tacked on a financial consideration which will compel a two-thirds vote on the matter rather than majority approval.

We think that substantiates our point on the value of town meeting based on modern operation as compared to the early days of the system.

The rush can only lead to more confusion and probably an improper decision at this time.

DOWN THE YEARS

100 Years Ago — May 1888

The highway leading from West Parish church to the North District school house will be closed at the crossing of the Lowell and Lawrence Railroad, while the road is building a new bridge and abutments at that point.

The sway of the aesthetic is advancing. Mr. Draper, in grading the lot back of the Andover Bookstore, has laid out a little flower plot, and Mr. Loring has a cluster of dandelions in beauteous bloom to front of his machine shop.

A concert was given Monday evening in the G.A.R. Hall by the members of the Lincoln Lodge No., 70 of the A.O.U.W. Every seat in the hall was occupied and the programme was gone through in a manner which was evidently satisfactory for all the numbers were encored.

The Special Committee on Grammar School awarded on Wednesday the contract for building the same to Hardy and Cole, theirs being the lowest bid - $19,327. The work is to be begun immediately, and to be completed about the first of December next.

One of the most interesting items of local news is the fidelity and vigor with which the city authorities of Lawrence are carrying out the no-license vote of its citizens. They seem to execute the law with entire impartiality, without fear or favor, and no doubt all right-minded people will sustain them. The benefit of Lawrence's enforcement is felt in Andover. Our esteemed contemporary in that city must not infer, however, that the keg of lager beer to which the Harvard boys treated themselves to the other night came from Lawrence—that was brought from Boston, and although taken into the town hall, which they had hired, was very soon taken out by the authorities, whom the funny Eagle condemns somewhat unfairly.

75 Years Ago — May 1913

Children's Day will be observed at the West church on Sunday, June 8.

"Mother's Day" was observed at South church on Sunday morning with a special sermon preached by Rev. E. Victor Bigelow.

A bird meeting of the Natural History was held last Saturday afternoon in the vicinity of Den Rock. Owing to the cold weather, only a few members were present and but few birds were seen.

The children's gardens at various schools have been started and are now well underway. The children are very enthusiastic and some attractive results of their labors are looked for.

The fire department was called to Morton street on Tuesday where a fire was in progress in a henhouse in the rear of Dwane's Laundry. The trouble, which was caused by sparks from the laundry chimney, was quickly overcome with slight damage.

Among the salon passengers who arrived on the S.S. Cretic from Naples, Italy, Monday, May 12, were Mr. and Mrs. Francis Howe Johnson and Miss Annette Bennett.

50 Years Ago — May 1938

Scholars are rated high by the Punchard seniors this year. In the annual class ballot Victoria Batcheller, voted the best girl student, also received the title of most promising girl, most respected and the one who has done the most for the class. The prize boy scholar, William Hannon, was voted the most promising, neatest, and most polite.

On Tuesday at the Mitchell Johnson Estate on Central street, the Andover Garden club will hold a flower show.

25 Years Ago — May 1963

Weekly garbage collections may continue through the summer - instead of twice-weekly as originally scheduled. Town Manager Thomas E. Duff suggested the change in plans Tuesday, while commenting the collection has been going smoothly through the winter.

Forty-four percent of the senior class, or 82 of the 186 students, at Andover High has been accepted at degree-granting colleges and universities; another 41, or 22 percent of the class, will go to junior colleges, business schools, etc.

The Andover Patriotic Holiday Committee has completed plans for the observance of Memorial Day. Flags will be placed on the graves of all veterans on or about May 25.

Board of Trade directors have expressed their "grave concern over Raytheon's parking problem and the seemingly lack of support and concern about this problem by responsible citizens of Andover, North Andover and Lawrence - all of which derive great economic benefits from the fact that Raytheon is located in this area." This statement along with supporting material is contained in a recent newsletter published by the Board.

THE PUBLIC FORUM

THE TOWNSMAN, MAY 26, 1988

Delay Is Unnecessary

To The Editor Of The TOWNSMAN:

As a resident of Andover and parent of two young children, I have been observing the development of the Collaborative School Project from its inception. The intensity of the rhetoric, both pro and con, make it clear that this has become a very divisive issue for Andover. This controversy, as well as recent publicity regarding the social and moral character of our citizens, suggests that now is the time for a plebiscite to guide our elected officials.

Financial considerations for the proposed project are nearly all in place and the legislation has been approved. I believe that further delay for the purpose of negotiating fine financial points is unnecessary and that the real issue is whether the town as a whole is for or against the collaborative school concept of education.

I would urge all the citizens of Andover to exercise their franchise and vote at the special town meeting in June. Let's provide direction for our elected officials and end this divisive debate.

Lester D. Paul

Erroneous, Misleading

To The Editor Of The TOWNSMAN:

This letter is in response to the erroneous and misleading statements in your May 19 editorial.

1. You say there is no need to rush to judgment on the collaborative school issue, yet the TOWNSMAN editorially endorsed the school way back on October 29, 1987, and the Lawrence City Council had enough information on March 1 to approve the proposal.

2. You add that proponents and opponents agreed that sufficient information was not available for an April Town Meeting vote. Your March 3 article correctly quotes me as saying that "the delay is unfortunate, but understandable;" however, you should not infer from that comment that I agreed with the proponents. To the contrary, I have always felt that this issue is basically philosophical—whether to participate in a regional school with a neighboring community or not. The basic elements of the proposal have not changed since February 1987.

3. You say there has been little in the way of additional information provided. Is this really because the information is not available or because proponents want to spend more of our tax dollars to market the concept another four months with events such as a cocktail party at Bishop's on June 1 where an artist's rendering of the school will be unveiled? (a cocktail party to celebrate an elementary school?) Are they afraid of the outcome of a town meeting at this time because the number of responses to interest sheets and a petition has not provided them with a comfortable measure of support? What better forum to present their case than a Collins Center full of registered voters?

4. You say it was decided to put the decision off until the fall. Decided by whom? There has been no public vote of the School Committee on this point. In public appearances in March and April, the project director stated that a special town meeting could be held in the spring or fall. You also refer to bypassing agreed to time schedules. We remind you that the proponents stated they would be ready for town meeting when legislation was in place, the bilateral agreement was established and the survey completed.

5. You say that the Andover survey would be virtually impossible to complete before the targeted June 20 Town Meeting date. However, your own reporter was present when the School Committee discussed June 15 as the due date for survey responses. If that date is not met, it is by the School Committee's choice.

6. You say that a secret ballot is preposterous. But, if you reread some of the letters to the editor which have appeared in your paper as well as some quotes in several articles, you will understand why it is necessary.

7. Finally, but most importantly, you suggest that town meeting has outlived its usefulness just two months after we had a successful, productive and well attended town meeting. Some of us are just not in any hurry to become a city.

It does not matter to us that your editorial opinion is different from ours as long as our view is reported accurately and we are treated with fairness and respect.

Jack Dziadul

No Way Overburdened

To The Editor Of The TOWNSMAN:

Thanks, but no thanks. I, as one member of the Andover School Committee, feel in no way overburdened as a result of the time spent on the Andover/Lawrence Collaborative School Project.

I don't feel too much time has thus far been spent on the attempt to develop a new—for Massachusetts—educational concept and structure that will at the outset cost some 30-plus million tax dollars (in no matter what community it is built) and operate at considerably higher per pupil total cost than our current schools.

To race to arbitrary and artificial deadlines is disruptive and would be the height of irresponsibility to the town. For an outside manipulator, one who refused requests to campaign for the office he so eagerly seeks to instruct, to self-servingly attempt to set so complex an agenda is unacceptable. To so deceitfully suggest he only seeks to lighten my load is sheer arrogance. I would not have campaigned for the job if I could not give it all the time required.

A Warm Welcome

To The Editor Of The TOWNSMAN:

On behalf of the area American Field Service Intercultural Programs and the 16 school principals from Thailand who visited Andover High School on March 29, we would like to thank the superintendent of schools, Dr. Kenneth Seifert; Assistant Superintendent Lois Haslam; Principal Wilber Hixon; and the assistant principals and department heads for a very interesting and informative day.

Of special enjoyment was the musical presentation by the high school Madrigal Singers and the Jazz Band. The Thais were also welcomed at both junior high schools and we would like to thank Dr. Richard McGrail and William Hart.

Two of the Thai educators returned to the high school for two days for a more comprehensive look at how American high schools function.

Special thank yous go to Emmy Lou Danforth's ninth-grade sewing class at Doherty Junior High for making AFS tote bags as gifts for our Thai guests and to the student guides who provided specialized tours.

Meeting Not Outdated

To The Editor Of The TOWNSMAN:

In the May 19 issue of The Andover TOWNSMAN, the opinion column calls the idea of a secret ballot in the upcoming town meeting to be a "preposterous suggestion." The secret ballot process is guaranteed by the founding documents of our country.

In the same article the editor made this additional statement: "Certified signatures indicate the town meeting will be called, which is further proof that the town meeting process has outlived its usefulness in Andover." Does the editor suggest he has a problem with the "right of assembly" which is also guaranteed in our founding documents?

Why does the Andover TOWNSMAN editorially attack cornerstones of democracy such as the secret ballot process or town meeting? This is not the first editorial suggesting that town meeting is outdated.

I suggest that there is absolutely nothing wrong or outdated about town meeting. Town meeting is one of the purest forms of democracy and one of America's most treasured democratic institutions.

Surette Had Thoughts After Single

By Rick Harrison

When Billerica High's Jeff Gallison led off the bottom of the seventh inning with a single, Andover pitcher Steve Surette experienced an ugly flashback.

Exactly seven days earlier Surette had been in a similar situation, entering the bottom of the eighth inning against Chelmsford with a 3-1 advantage.

The lead seemed secure since the Golden Warriors were atop the Large School Division of the Merrimack Valley Baseball Conference, 11-2 overall, and Surette was 5-0 with only two earned runs allowed in close to 40 innings.

But two Chelmsford hits were followed by a three-run homer, giving the Lions a shocking 4-3 victory and starting Andover on a three-game losing skid that put coach Dave Bettencourt's club in a virtual three-way tie for first place.

Surette, now 7-1, had halted the slide with a four-hit victory over Lowell.

Now he was pitching on two days rest, his third start in eight days overall, and was three outs from a 2-1 victory over Billerica and the 1988 MVC Large School Championship.

"Right after the kid got the hit," said Surette, "the first thing that went through my mind was the Chelmsford game. I wasn't gonna let the same thing happen again."

He didn't.

The junior righthander reached back and found his fastball, striking out the next two batters and getting two strikes on final out Derek Graham before he slapped a routine grounder to second baseman Scott Wallace.

Surette's 22 innings in eight days are something many pitchers couldn't handle, but it was something carefully thought out by coach Bettencourt and discussed several times last weekend.

"I didn't even touch a ball at Sunday's practice," explained Surette. "I felt fine during the game, although I was pretty tired after it was over. Once we took the lead (two runs in the sixth) I was pretty pumped up. We all were."

"We actually didn't decide until the bus ride to Billerica that I'd go as far as I could. We had 'Russ' (John Russell) ready in relief, and coach brought along (sophomore lefty) Chris Eggert to face a left-handed batter if I got in a tough situation."

Surette, the winningest pitcher in the MVC this spring, rarely strikes out more than five or six in a seven-inning game. But he also walks few and is as crafty on the mound as many professionals.

He's been successful at every level and now owns a 12-4 career varsity record.

Warriors Take Conference Crown; Get Tourney Berth

By Rick Harrison

With junior righthander Steve Surette once again showing uncommon poise under pressure, the Andover High varsity baseball team completed an impressive perfecta this week by winning the Merrimack Valley Baseball Conference Large School championship and qualifying for the Eastern Mass. Division 1 Tournament.

Taking second things first, the Golden Warriors earned their fifth tourney berth in the last 16 years as Surette fired a brilliant four-hitter to beat Lowell 4-2 last Friday.

Andover's first league title in several years was clinched Monday afternoon, Surette coming back on two days rest to fashion a crafty five-hitter en route to a dramatic come-from-behind 2-1 triumph over Billerica.

Matt Pothier, Co-Capt. Tom Murray and Mike Moriarty provided the key hits in the two-run sixth inning to lift the Warriors past Billerica, but it was Surette's gritty mound performance that made it all possible.

With the victory Surette became the winningest pitcher in the MVC this spring, 7-1 overall, and for his two-year varsity career he's now 12-4.

The triumph over Lowell ended a three-game losing skid, one that began with a heartbreaking 4-3 bottom-of-the-eighth loss to Chelmsford and continued last week with setbacks to Lawrence (3-1) and Tewksbury (8-0).

Those three defeats brought Andover back from the MVC stratosphere, creating a virtual three-way Large School tie for first place among AHS, Billerica and Lawrence entering Monday's game.

The Golden Warriors responded to the first-place challenge like champs, their victory over Billerica and a 13-3 pounding of Lawrence by Chelmsford combining to earn them undisputed possession of the crown.

Andover wraps up the regular season this weekend hoping to defend its championship in the eighth annual Lawrence Invitational Tournament at Mark Devlin Field.

The Golden Warriors face Methuen, a team they whipped 13-3 earlier this spring, in the tourney semifinals Saturday at 4 p.m. Host Lawrence meets North Andover in the 7:30 p.m. nightcap.

The two winners square off in the championship game Sunday at 7:30 p.m., with the losers clashing in a 3 o'clock third-place consolation game.

Andover, 2-1

Durable Steve Surette, with five complete games and only six earned runs allowed in over 50 innings, hooked up with Billerica sophomore righthander Keith Qualter in a classic pitcher's duel that featured spectacular defensive play on both sides.

Surette, who became stronger as the game progressed, struck out four, walked one (intentionally), retired 17 of the last 20 batters he faced including 12 straight at one stretch, allowed only three Billerica runners as far as second base, and threw just 92 pitches.

Qualter, 6-3 record, wasn't far behind although he received some outstanding fielding support through the first five frames.

Qualter yielded seven hits, four in the pivotal sixth, struck out two, walked two and threw 73 pitches.

Ten Andover batters went for Qualter's first pitch, and at one point he retired five consecutive hitters on the minimum five pitches.

Both teams played errorless ball, with strong defense from AHS catcher Tom Murray and infielders Scott Wallace (second base), Keith Abernathy (shortstop) and Chris Concemi (first base).

The Indians, however, kept Andover frustrated and off the board with a series of excellent fielding plays.

In the top of the third, after John Russell blooped a single to right and DH Matt Pothier beat out a bunt single, Wallace grounded a hard shot to third baseman Bob Kupka. He scooped the sizzler, stepped on third and doubled the Andover co-captain at first to end the threat.

Centerfielder Jeff Gallison opened the fifth with a long run and parallel-to-the-ground diving catch of Abernathy's hard liner to right-center.

Shortstop Glenn DiSarcina and second baseman Chuck Denehy also made solid plays to keep Andover scoreless through five.

Billerica, which had just two threats against Surette, made good on the first one in the bottom of the second. Denehy led with a hustle double, took third on Gallison's sacrifice bunt, and crossed on Mark Torpey's RBI single to leftfield.

It remained 1-0 until the sixth. Leadoff batter Pothier was the catalyst with a single to centerfield, and he promptly stole second base.

Wallace, an extremely loud 0-for-3, belted a rocket to centerfield that Gallison flagged down.

Murray followed with another shot that was uncatchable, sailing over leftfielder Derek Graham's head for a game-tying double.

Senior leftfielder Mike Moriarty, a successful cleanup hitter all season, then won it with a double to left rescuing Murray.

Moriarty moved to third on a passed ball, but was nailed at the plate on Chris Concemi's fielder's choice grounder.

Abernathy ripped a two-out single and alertly moved to second when Billerica tried to get Concemi at third, but that's where the rally died.

In the bottom of the sixth Indians' catcher Tim Murray spiked a one-out single, stole second, and DiSarcina was given an intentional ball four with two down.

Surette worked free as Wallace fielded Denehy's up-the-middle grounder and gunned him down at first.

In the Billerica seventh Gallison led with a crisp single to leftfield, but Surette preserved the title by fanning the next two batters and erasing Graham on a game-ending grounder to Wallace.

Abernathy and Pothier paced Andover with two hits apiece.

Lawrence, 3-1

Lancers' ace lefthander Shawn Phillips (5-3 record), whom the Golden Warriors had defeated 3-2 the previous week by scoring twice in the bottom of the seventh, earned a split of the season series with a brilliant three-hit, nine-strikeout performance under the lights at Mark Devlin Field.

Phillips' effort overshadowed another fine outing by AHS junior righthander John Russell (3-3), who followed consecutive two-hit shutouts against Gloucester and Dracut with a six-hitter against Lawrence.

The winners inched ahead 1-0 in the bottom of the

Cardinals Perched Atop National Majors

By Jim Arnold

Todd Harris shut out the Pirates with a masterful two-hit mound stint to give the defending town champion Cardinals a one-game lead in the National League Majors division of the Andover Little League. A Saturday win over the Indians enabled the Cards to maintain a leg up on the Cubs and Pirates. The standings are: Cardinals 5-1; Pirates 4-2; Cubs 3-2; Braves 3-3; Mets 2-4.

Braves 4 - Twins 0

The Braves received a stellar pitching performance from Matt Wolcott to hand manager Art Sullivan a win in his first Andover Little League contest. Wolcott walked four and allowed just two hits. Second baseman Danny Hansberry contributed a steady defensive game. Tim Sullivan and Dana DiFiore backboned the outfield's effort.

The Twins didn't muster much offense but received excellent pitching by Brian Hussey and Richie Mendez.

Cardinals 14 - Twins 4

Brian Flanagan had a two-run homer and hurled four steady innings to boost the Cardinals to an opening day win. They spotted the Twins four runs in the first stanza. Todd Harris smacked four hits and struck out five batters in a two-inning relief stint. Ricky Crispo had three hits, while Frank Morris cracked two in his first major league appearance, and shortstop Paul Cassidy added a pair of safeties.

The Twins were paced by Mike Maesano, who connected for two hits, and Rick Mendez, Brian Hussey, Todd Cadagan and Jon Adams with one each. Hussey also pitched well in relief.

Cardinals 4 - Orioles 2

The Cardinals squeaked past an ever-improving Oriole squad. Brian Flanagan stroked two doubles and a single, good for two RBIs, and scored his team's other two runs. Jeff Hesenius, Rick Crispo, Matt Blake and Todd Harris collected the other Redbird hits. Andy Fortuna allowed two runs in three frames and Todd Harris picked up the win with an outstanding relief effort, allowing no hits.

Mike Trombly slapped two hits for the Orioles while Ken Oppenheim and Mike Shepard had one each. Oppenheim and Christopher Hoffman hurled three stoic stanzas apiece.

Cardinals 9 - White Sox 2

Seven Cardinal runs in the final two innings broke open a tight contest. Ed Fortuna of the White Sox shut down the Cards early and Brian Flanagan returned the favor. But Rick Croispo broke things open with a pair of doubles and a sacrifice fly in the later frames. Todd Harris, Matt Blake and Jim Stratton had set the table with timely hits. Justin Connors cracked a key Cardinal rope and shortstop Paul Cassidy chipped in two fielding gems.

Tom Clarke and Ed Fortuna rapped two hits each for the White Sox. First baseman Jon Ciruso played an outstanding defensive game.

Pirates 8 - Indians 4

The Pirates tallied seven runs in the second inning, the key blow a bases loaded Alex Marshall double. Marshall also starred on the mound, striking out seven in three innings. Righty Matt Marvin relieved and fanned eight. Toby Guzowski slammed two singles and a double, Chris Corcoran lined three safeties, Steve Hosmer added two hits and Ben Weiner chipped in one.

first when Pete LeFebre walked, stole second and rode home on Phillips' single.

In the third Dan Flores doubled and crossed on Kevin Fielding's basehit to make it 2-0.

Andover broke Phillips' shutout in the top of the fourth, notching its lone run as senior first baseman Chris Concerni was hit by a pitch, stole second and raced across on Co-Capt. Scott Wallace's single.

The Lancers produced their insurance run in the bottom of the fourth, however, when Kevin Dolan lashed a double and Brendan Neilon followed with an RBI single.

Wallace finished the contest 2-for-3, and white-hot junior shortstop Keith Abernathy contributed a basehit. But that was all the offense the Warriors could muster against the lean lefty from Lawrence.

Phillips helped his own cause with a pair of hits.

Tewksbury, 8-0

Andover, whose previous four losses came by a total of six runs, was beaten convincingly for the first time in its showdown battle of MVC Large and Small School leaders at Andover.

Redmen starter Chip "Killer" O'Neill worked the first three innings and senior righty Dave Boudreau (3-0) the final four, the pair combining for a one-hit shutout.

O'Neill, whose only problem is control, was lifted after throwing three hitless innings. He also walked three and plunked two batters.

Boudreau, conversely, had pinpoint accuracy as he struck out five, didn't issue a walk, and yielded only a bad-hop sixth-inning single by Scott Wallace that bounced off the chest of Tewksbury shortstop John Miller.

Wallace, 2-1, was the losing hurler as he tossed a route-going 10-hitter. Scott walked three and fanned two.

The shutout was the third straight for Redmen pitchers, who stretched their scoreless inning streak to 25. After the game Tewksbury, 15-4 overall, had permitted only two runs in 39 innings and five earned runs in 57 frames.

The scoreless inning string was subsequently broken at 28 when Dracut pushed across a run in a 2-1 loss to the Redmen two days later.

Wallace and O'Neill embroiled themselves in a pitcher's duel for three innings, but Tewksbury grabbed a 2-0 edge in the fourth when Neil Olson rapped an RBI double and Miller a run-scoring single.

The visitors added an unearned run in the fifth, made it 4-0 in the sixth after back-to-back doubles by Chris Mader and Brian Freitag, and doubled their production in a four-run seventh highlighted by Jay Rideout's two-run single.

League MVP Mader, a top-notch hitter whiffed once by Wallace, led the Redmen attack with 2-for-3 as nine different TMHS batters had hits.

Andover, 4-2

Keith Abernathy led the offense with a perfect 3-for-3 afternoon, and ace pitcher Steve Surette proved to be the stopper as the Golden Warriors halted their three-game losing skid and qualified for the Eastern Mass. Tournament.

The victory gave Andover a sweep of the season series with Lowell (6-1 earlier), and eliminated the Red Raiders from Large School title consideration.

Surette was masterful once again as he scattered four hits, yielded just one earned run, walked one and struck out five.

Abernathy lashed three hits off route-going lefty hurler Greg Moore (1-3), among them a crisp double and an RBI single to plate the insurance run.

The Golden Warriors grabbed a 1-0 lead in the bottom of the first when leadoff batter Matt Pothier doubled down the leftfield line, took third on an infield out, and raced home on a passed ball.

Andover made it 3-0 in the second as Abernathy single to left-centerfield, John Glynn was hit by a pitch, Pothier's two-out grounder was misplayed for a run, and Glynn scored when he and Pothier worked a delayed double steal.

In the fourth Lowell touched Surette for a run, Jason Guthrie belting a triple and crossing on Felix Figueroa's infield out.

The Red Raiders threatened further in the stanza, getting runners to second and third with two down, but Surette retired big Chris Green on a roller to the mound.

LHS had another bid in the fifth, catcher Mike Beaulieu reaching second base with no outs on an infield single and throwing error. But Surette again bore down and worked out of trouble.

The Golden Warriors' insurance run came moments later, as Co-Capt. Tom Murray hammered a double and Abernathy responded with a two-out RBI single.

Lowell's second run and final bid came in the top of the seventh.

Chris Maguire reached on an error and scored on Beaulieu's one-out double, but Surette was equal to the challenge a final time as LHS left the runner stranded at second base.

Mike Moriarty and Scott Wallace contributed hits for the winners, while Beaulieu paced Lowell with 2-for-3.

Prom

that it's worth it.

Seniors Colleen O'Leary of Gleason Street and Eric Tetreault of Elm Street are two of a group of six students who rented a limousine for the night. They say the evening will cost them about $250 each. The expense is worth it, they say, because "you get to dress up; you're with all your friends; you get to ride all night."

Following the prom, many students say they will attend all-night parties. Then, many go to the beach or away for the rest of the weekend, said several students.

"It's the whole weekend," said senior Scott Hughes. "It's fun for the seniors because it's the last time we'll be together," he said.

The cost of going to the prom hasn't seemed to affect student participation. "It's the biggest prom ever," said Ann Wilde, junior class adviser. To date, 541 tickets have been purchased, and the event is popular among both juniors and seniors, she said.

The Andover High School prom is being held Friday night at the Andover Marriott. Tickets are $55 per couple and $27.50 individually. This price includes a chicken dinner; a mug inscribed with the title of the theme song, "I've Had the Time of My Life"; police coverage; the disc jockey; and the chaperones' meals, according to Wilde.

Pictures taken at the prom are another cost. Packages range from $15 to $27 and Wilde says most kids buy pictures.

Flowers also contribute to the cost of the evening. The type and size of the bouquet determines the cost. Judy Kehrig, owner of Valentine's Flowers, says nosegay bouquets are the most popular.

This cost ranges from $15 to $30 depending on where it is purchased and the type of flowers used in the arrangement. Roses cost a bit more, but according to Beth Czepiel, owner of Olde Village Flower Shop, "the kids are caught up on roses; they like them."

A boutonniere costs anywhere from $2.50 to $5 depending on the type of flower.

Renting a limousine for the night is popular. The cost varied slightly among local businesses polled, but all included a stretch limosine equipped with a color television, videocassette recorder and a stereo. The

Surette

"I just try to hit spots," he said. "I had faced Billerica earlier this year (3-0 win), and the only hitter that really concerned me was (Glenn) DiSarcina. I pitched him outside, changed speeds and went for location."

That's the secret to Surette's success and the primary reason Andover will be playing in the Eastern Mass. Division 1 Tournament as one of the top seeds beginning next week.

"I had a good fastball last Friday against Lowell, and again in the seventh inning against Billerica, but I know I won't overpower anyone."

When the season started most Andover players and coaches felt they had the makings of a championship team.

"Some people were putting us down at the beginning," said Surette. "They thought we'd fold in the late innings. But we worked all last summer (Legion, etc.) and at clinics during the winter."

"I believe we knew from the start it (title) was going to be ours."

"There is a lot of talent on the team," agreed senior Co-Capt. Scott Wallace. "It was just the fact of putting it all together. I wasn't so sure at the beginning of the season, but we got on a roll and it ended up working out."

It worked out almost perfectly until the Chelmsford downer, which almost tore apart all that had been built up for 13 games.

"Our intensity dropped for that whole week," said Surette. "But we got ourselves pumped up again Thursday because we knew we had to beat Lowell (Friday)."

"Things probably came too easily early in the year. We started to sit back and wait for teams to come to us."

"After the third loss to Tewksbury," explained Wallace, "we sat down at a team meeting with the coaches. It lasted an hour and a half, with all the players offering suggestions and joining the discussion."

"It wasn't like we were playing badly, except for the Tewksbury game. The Chelmsford loss was tough, but (Dave) Bellemore is a great pitcher. Against Lawrence we just didn't swing the bats."

"What finally happened was coach told us to pick our own lineup for the Lowell game, put the batting order one through nine on the blackboard. Every position had to be a consensus opinion, and we went back to all the things that had worked for us at the beginning of the season."

The strategy was successful.

"We didn't play a great game against Lowell," admitted Wallace. "But it was good enough to win the game we really needed."

The title-clincher against Billerica, on the other hand, was a superb team effort from start to finish.

Doherty Frosh Top West In Final

By Rick Harrison

Lefthander Dave Blank fired a four-hitter to register his third victory of the week, while Jim Landry and Matt Daniels provided the key hits, as the Andover Doherty freshman baseball team clipped Andover West 8-1 Monday afternoon in the final athletic contest between the two schools.

The victory also enabled Doherty to complete a highly-successful 1988 season, winning its last six games and finishing 13-2 overall.

Doherty further avenged one of its two losses this spring, West prevailing 8-2 in their first encounter, and West also had a three-game win streak against Doherty snapped after sweeping the series last year.

Over the years, however, the crosstown rivals finished about even in their baseball series.

In other games last week, the Doherty frosh came from behind twice to edge Chelmsford (11-8) and Tewksbury (7-3), while West dropped a 2-1 decision to Lowell before bouncing back to whip Dracut, 10-5.

While Doherty closed out Monday, last Friday's game against Lowell washed out and not re-scheduled, West was slated to host the Lawrence freshmen in its finale yesterday afternoon.

West entered its last game with an 8-5 overall mark.

Doherty-West

Southpaw standout Dave Blank completed a superb spring with a 6-1 record, and struck out an amazing 30 batters in his final 15 innings last week (2.0 per inning).

In the 8-1 win against West he scattered four hits, whiffed 12 and walked only two.

Righthander Joe Marinaro (1-3, one save) was the losing hurler, crafting a complete-game eight-hitter, walking four and fanning three.

Doherty inched ahead 1-0 in the bottom of the first, notching an unearned run when Jeff Hurley reached on an error, stole second, took third on Don Fraser's sacrifice bunt, and scored when P.J. Johnson walked and ball four skipped past the West catcher.

The winners made it 4-0 in the third. Hurley singled, both runners were safe when Fraser's fielder's choice grounder was misplayed, Johnson dropped a sacrifice bunt, and Hurley crossed on Blank's fielder's choice.

Sean Darwin followed with a third fielder's choice, but this time West nailed Fraser at the plate. A subsequent balk enabled Blank to score, and Jim Landry rescued Darwin with an RBI single.

In the Doherty fourth Todd Allard reached on an error, took second on a passed ball, and bolted home on Fraser's single.

The lead jumped to 8-0 after a three-run sixth, the uprising starting after two were out. Mike Henry slapped a pinch-hit single, Hurley and Fraser walked to load the bases, Henry scored on a wild pitch, and Matt Daniels capped the season with a two-run single.

West averted a shutout in the top of the seventh when Craig DerAnian singled, Bobby Sheehan was hit by a pitch, and Marinaro walked to load the bases with no one out.

Blank fanned the next batter, induced Mark Hopkinson to hoist a sacrifice fly for the only run, and then struck out the final man.

Landry and Blank sparked the eight-hit Doherty assault with two safeties apiece, while single hits were contributed by Jeff Hurley, Don Fraser, Matt Daniels and Mike Henry.

Bryan Smith of West produced the

Kidnapping Victim In Good Condition

By Frank Messina

A young Lowell woman, abducted in Andover and stabbed as she escaped from her kidnapper several hours later, was reported in good condition at Exeter Hospital in New Hampshire yesterday, say Andover police.

Although police are working on several leads, there are currently no suspects in the early morning abduction last Friday of a 24-year-old woman, from her car along River Road near the Tewksbury border, said Andover Lt. John Houlihan.

The woman, whose name is being withheld because she was sexually assaulted during her ordeal, was driving from a friend's home in Andover about 2 a.m. when a pickup truck made a move as if to pass her 1986 Ford Escort, then cut sharply in front of the car, forcing the woman to screech to a halt, said Houlihan.

"She apparently had been aware there was a vehicle behind her, but she had no idea of his intentions," said Houlihan.

Before the woman could back up, the man, described as a tall, light-skinned black male in his late twenties, pulled her out of the car and stuffed her into his truck.

"She basically had no time to react," said Houlihan. "She tried to back away, but didn't have enough time."

For the next several hours, the kidnapper drove around the area, during which time, the woman was sexually assaulted, say police.

Finally, the assailant stopped in Hampton, N.H., where he permitted the woman to escape after a short struggle, during which he stabbed her in the abdomen, said Houlihan.

The woman was subsequently found on the roadside by a passing motorist and was taken to Exeter Hospital.

Meanwhile, another motorist had called Andover police to report an abandoned vehicle parked sideways in the middle of River Road.

Andover and Tewksbury units responded, and, finding the keys still in the ignition and a purse lying on the seat, began an hour-long search of the immediate neighborhood.

At about 6 a.m., Exeter police, responding to an all-points bulletin, informed Andover police headquarters that the woman was in Exeter Hospital, where she underwent surgery for her knife wounds.

Several calls regarding possible identification of the truck, described only as full-size, red-orange pickup and the kidnapper have come into the station, said Houlihan.

Thank You La Petite Boutique

La Petite
Boutique

This is just a small note to say thank you to the 'Andover Townsman' and Craig Holmy for making me aware of the advertising potential of their newspaper. Craig had found my ad in a competitor's newspaper and called me to inform me of a fantastic 'Spring Fashion' section the 'Townsman' was having. It sounded like an excellent opportunity for LaPetite Boutique to break into the Andover market, so we did.

Pleasantly to my surprise, I received a wonderful response to my 1/4 pg. ad I had placed. I've had several women come up to Londonderry, only 20 minutes north of Andover, and find exactly what they were looking for; a boutique that carries petite sizes 2-14, of high quality brands, personalized service and a great selection. The best part is that they each have returned several times and purchased a wonderful addition to their wardrobe. Then they tell two friends and so on and so on. It's been a great source of advertising.

Therefore, I will definitely continue to advertise in the 'Andover Townsman' and feel confident the great response will continue. Thanks again to the 'Townsman' and Craig for all their work and for opening the Andover market to Londonderry and southern New Hampshire.

game's only extra-base knock, a double, while DerAnian laced two hits and Hopkinson had a single.

Blank was able to shackle the bats of former summer league teammates Joe Iarrobino, Brett Hammond and Bobby Sheehan, all of whom have been white-hot hitters for West this spring.

Both teams left five runners on base.

Andover Doherty

Jim Landry, Jess Collins and Jeff Hurley led the offense as Doherty overcame 3-0, 4-2 and 8-6 deficits to beat visiting Chelmsford, using a five-run sixth as the springboard to victory.

Dave Blank once again was the winning pitcher in relief of starter Mike Henry (5-2/3 innings), striking out the only four batters he faced.

Doherty's sixth-inning explosion was launched by Scott Bernard, who drilled a pinch-hit single to leftfield. Hurley followed with a one-out single, Don Fraser walked to load the bases, and Jess Collins spanked a two-run single to centerfield that tied it 8-8.

Blank followed with an RBI double to centerfield, rescuing the eventual game-winning run, and Jim Landry provided the insurance with a two-run single.

Landry, Hurley, Fraser and Blank all produced two hits for Doherty.

Blank went the seven-inning distance against Tewksbury, which entered the game with just one previous loss. He struck out 14, walked seven and yielded three runs.

The rivals traded runs in the first inning at Tewksbury's fenced-in Odens Field, Doherty registering when Jeff Hurley singled, stole second, took third on a passed ball and crossed on Sean Darwin's single.

Coach Ted Boudreau's crew moved ahead 4-1 with three runs in the top of the fourth. Scott Bernard drew a two-out walk, Todd Allard reached on a two-base error moving Bernard to third, and Bernard scored the go-ahead run in bizarre fashion.

Tewksbury tried to pick Allard off second base, the umpire ruled him safe, and while the Redmen fielders were arguing the play Bernard alertly raced home (no timeout called).

Jeff Hurley picked on the next pitch and drilled a two-run homer over the centerfield fence, his second homerun of the season.

Dave Blank lined a bases-empty rocket over the leftfield fence in the fifth, the solo homerun making it 5-1.

In the Doherty seventh Hurley singled to centerfield, stole second, and scored on Fraser's single to rightfield. P.J. Johnson dropped a sacrifice bunt, moving Fraser to second, and Darwin followed with a run-scoring single.

Trailing 7-1, Tewksbury made it interesting in the bottom of the seventh after Blank walked the bases loaded. Another free pass and basehit chased home two runs, but with one out and the tying run at the plate Blank bore down to end the game with a strikeout and infield groundout.

Doherty's top hitters through this game were P.J. Johnson (8-for-17, .471), Blank (.439), Landry (.412), Fraser (.400) and Hurley (.359).

Andover West

A fine relief performance by tough-luck losing hurler Joe Marinaro was wasted as Lowell nipped West, 2-1.

Marinaro relieved starter Kevin Murphy in the second, two runners aboard, and shut Lowell down with 5-2/3 frames of two-hit, 11-strikeout, one-walk pitching.

The game was tied 1-1 in the top of the seventh, and things looked good for West when Marinaro fanned the first two batters. He walked the third hitter on a 3-2 pitch, however, and went to 3-2 on the next man before he hit a soft RBI liner to centerfield.

"This was the first game we were held to only three hits," said West coach Ken Maglio, "two of which were two-out doubles by Joe Iarrobino and Brett Hammond. We hit the ball hard at times, but right at people. Lowell also made some nice defensive plays against us."

Lowell notched its first run in the opening inning, and the lone West tally came in the third when Iarrobino rapped his two-out double, stole third and scored a passed ball.

West bounced back with the 10-5 victory at Dracut, scoring five runs in the top of the seventh to break a 5-5 tie.

Dracut spotted AW leads of 3-0 and 5-3 earlier in the contest, rallying both times to pull even, but the Middies couldn't overcome the five-spot in the seventh.

Righthander Brett Hammond improved to 5-0 with his fifth complete game, tossing a seven-hitter, whiffing seven and walking two.

Doherty

The versatile Hammond also sparked the offense with two hits and four RBI.

Chatham Harish and Bobby Sheehan contributed two RBI each, Garrett Ferris doubled, Joe Iarrobino had a basehit and scored three runs, and Brad Cronin singled.

Iarrobino and Sheehan lead the regulars in hitting with .400 averages.

Boy Scouts Help Elms

Boy Scouts of America is sponsoring a Johnny Elmseed program to save elms from Dutch elm disease and increase awareness about the tree disease.

Boy Scouts will be planting the American Liberty elm, a disease-resistant variety. Elm Research Institute, a non-profit organization that spent 20 years developing the American Liberty, is offering it at cost providing Boy Scouts will set up a troop nursery and care for the young trees for a couple of years until they are ready for transplanting.

Scouts will receive a troop gift—an equal number of trees.

Andover 'n' Athletes

Versatile Perry Comes Into His Own

By Rick Harrison

He is the middle son, trying to equal or surpass what those before him accomplished and set standards for those who are to follow.

Senior three-sport standout John Perry managed to fashion his own identity at Andover High, rivaling the impressive athletic accomplishments of older brothers E.J. and Tim. And he is also perpetuating a family tradition which younger brothers Matt and James will undoubtedly continue.

The five Perry boys, along with sisters Louise and Grace, comprise perhaps the most talented and prolific sports-oriented clan in this town's history.

Their only discernible "competition" would be the Farnhams as Bob, Mark and Paul were three-sporters at AHS and junior Glenn is currently starring in football, hockey and baseball at Central Catholic.

John Perry is approaching the end of his fine high school career, which will officially close over the next few weekends as one of the state's finest long jumpers in spring track.

He will participate in the All-Class Track Meet this Saturday, and if he qualifies will continue on to the All-State and New England Championships.

John had some pretty big shoes to fill when he arrived at Andover High.

Brother E.J. had started the Perry sports portfolio.

He was a wide receiver and defensive back in football, a member of several outstanding Golden Warrior basketball teams including the one that took Pat Ewing and Cambridge Rindge & Latin to the brink of defeat, and a top-notch hurdler and state champion pole vaulter on the track squad.

E.J. attended Colby College in Waterville, Maine where he was the point-guard, record-shattering playmaker and double figure scorer for several excellent White Mule hoop teams (26-3 one season).

E.J. graduated with a degree in administrative science, and is currently doing some substitute teaching in the Lawrence school system as well as coaching the Lawrence

Tim was next in line, not making things any easier for John by earning All-Scholastic honors as a quarterback/safety in football, graduating as Andover High's all-time career scoring leader and its only 1,000 point producer in basketball (1,397 points), and multi-event (high jump, hurdles, state decathlon) standout in track.

Even a freak pole vaulting accident his junior year, one that left a deep gash in his right thigh, didn't put a crimp in Tim's performance.

Tim inked a full football scholarship to Harvard University two years ago, and is one of very few athletes playing two sports (basketball) at the Ivy League school.

"He's played four games at varsity quarterback so far," said his father, "but Tim's running back punts and kickoffs regularly. He received his letter and the championship ring (the Crimson won the Ivy title last fall)."

Tim is also waiting for a shot with the varsity hoop team, and it should come next winter with Harvard struggling the past two years and the government/political science major averaging approximately 25 points per game for the junior varsity.

Enter John Perry.

"There was some pressure the last couple years from people who expected me to perform as well as my brothers," admitted John. "It never came from my family, but sometimes I'd hear someone else comparing me and Tim."

"I think because Tim and I did things a little differently it wasn't that bad. In football he was a quarterback and I was a receiver, and in basketball he was a shooting guard and I was more of a point-guard."

"No matter what anyone said all I tried to do was play as well as I could," added John.

As a sophomore wide receiver John pulled down 46 passes from brother Tim, including six for touchdowns.

As a junior he added 17 catches and scored five TDs (three on passes, two on runs).

This past fall he and quarterback Brendan McHugh formed one of the most dangerous passing combinations in the state for Andover's 7-3-0 squad, John snagging 54 passes including 12 for touchdowns. He scored 84 points overall, adding one TD rushing and one on a punt return.

Against Haverhill he caught 11 passes, three for touchdowns, and during an incredible team performance under the lights in Lowell he snatched eight passes including three for scores.

His 117 catches (21 for TDs) are believed to be a career record at Andover, surpassing the 112 chalked up by recent Holy Cross Hall-of-Fame inductee Glenn Verrette (class of '76).

As a sophomore in basketball John divided his time between the varsity bench and playing floor. "I was the eighth man," he said.

As a junior he played regularly and averaged 17.0 points, and this past season tossed in 21.6 points per game to finish second to Central Catholic's John Rimas in both in Merrimack Valley Conference scoring race and the balloting for league MVP.

He averaged 6.0 assists per game, and for his 63-game varsity career scored 30 or more points in four games, 20 or more in 23 games, and hit 240-of-311 career free throws.

He also finished second to Tim on Andover's all-time scoring list, pumping through 956 points to barely miss the coveted 1,000 career mark.

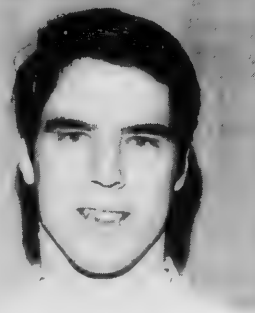

"John pushed the ball upcourt on the fast break very well," said coach Tom Ryser. "He was an excellent middleman for the running game."

"He wasn't afraid of contact when he took the ball to the hole. He'd take the hit and try for three (foul shot) points instead of two."

"He improved his shooting tremendously this year," continued Ryser. "His range was limited until the advent of the 3-point shot this season. I think that got John excited. It was a challenge and he worked at it (long-range shooting) very hard."

The Golden Warriors qualified for the Eastern Mass. Division 1 Tournament, and battled to the North Sectional semifinals before losing to nemesis and eventual state semifinalist Lowell for the third time.

Along the way, however, Andover defeated division top-seed Lincoln-Sudbury 80-78 in overtime with Perry playing a spectacular game.

John Perry

All three brothers, and the ones that are still to come, were assisted by a now legendary full-length, two-basket court constructed in the back yard of their Dascomb Road home.

In track John ranks as one of the top long jumpers in Massachusetts, surpassed only by Chelmsford High football standout Kyle Cripps. John's best leap has been 22'1." He also runs the 100 meters in 11.3 and is a member of the sprint relay squad.

Last spring he placed second in the state Class B long jump, but didn't do as well at the All-State Meet.

"Maybe this will be my year," offered John.

The awards have been many in 1987-88.

John earned Boston Globe All-Scholastic honors in football, was a Boston Herald All-Scholastic in basketball, a Lawrence Eagle-Tribune All-Star in both sports, a Merrimack Valley Conference All-Star in three sports, and a team co-MVP in basketball.

Just last week he attended a dinner in Randolph to accept a National Football Foundation Hall-of-Fame Scholar-Athlete award.

John is an honor roll student, and next fall will attend the University of New Hampshire on a full football scholarship.

"Football is my favorite sport," he said. "Coach Ryser looked into some Division 2 basketball schools for me, but I wanted to play Division 1 football."

Junior Nine Continues Improvement

By Dan Grams

The Andover High School Junior Varsity baseball team won two of their four games last week, improving their record to 7-6.

Andover 7 - Gloucester 2

The Junior Warriors pushed across six tallies in the bottom of the sixth, going on to defeat Gloucester 7-2.

Up 1-0 heading into the sixth, back-to-back walks to Chris Eggert and Peter Radulski set the table. After a Paul Lembo sacrifice, Dan Ferris drilled a bases-clearing double to start the offensive barrage. Consecutive safeties by Kevin Freel, Doug Howes, Albie Minichelli and a Sean Gill three bagger did the damage.

Sophomore Curt Solomon evened his mound record at two, allowing just one hit over six innings, striking out 8 and walking 1. Pat Finn worked the final stanza.

Ferris paced Andover with two hits and two RBIs. Andy Weiner, Peter Reming, Gill, Peter Radulski, Minichelli and Freel chipped in with solo safeties. Catcher Dave Carriere threw out a pair of would-be base stealers.

Lawrence 5 - Andover 0

Lawrence shut down the Andover bats for the first time this season 5-0. Andover could manage just three safeties with Curt Solomon, Chris Eggert and Doug Howes chipping in.

Peter Radulski took the loss, giving way to Jason Proctor who allowed just one hit over two and one-third innings of relief.

Dana Orlando made the defensive play of the game with a sliding catch of a sinking line drive in the fifth.

Andover 7 - Dracut 2

The Andover bats erupted for four extra base hits, defeating Dracut 7-2. Peter Radulski collected three RBIs via a homer and triple.

Doug Howes led off in the opening stanza with a triple and was chased home on a Peter Reming RBI sacrifice fly. Radulski followed with his round tripper. Consecutive safeties by Curt Solomon, Paul Lembo and Dave Carriere upped the lead 4-0.

The Golden Warriors closed out their scoring in the second, pushing across three markers. A Solomon safety and Radulski's second extra base hit of the game were the key hits.

Lefthander Chris Eggert upped his record to 4-1, tossing a six hitter. The sophomore issued three walks while striking out a season-high 15.

Radulski, Lembo and Doug Howes had a pair of hits each and Peter Reming, Solomon, Carriere and Dan Ferris joined the hit parade.

Chelmsford 9 - Andover 2

For the second time this season the Golden Warriors fell to Chelmsford 9-2. They had a tough time defensively, committing five errors.

Andover managed seven hits with four of them in their two-run sixth sixth. Singles by Dana Orland, Kevin Freel, Dan Ferris and Sean Gill accounted for the runs. Curt Solomon and Pat Finn shared mound duties with Solomon taking the loss.

Women & Pre-Nuptial Agreements

If you are contemplating marriage or remarriage, you may be concerned that you will risk the eventual loss of some or all of your property or other assets in the event of a dissolution of your marriage by death or divorce. You may also be uneasy about raising these concerns with your prospective husband because you do not wish to seem unromantic or greedy. A properly negotiated and drafted pre-nuptial agreement can often address these very genuine concerns. The assistance of a lawyer in the negotiation and drafting process is essential if you wish your agreement to be valid and enforceable at some later time.

AUTOMOTIVE SECTION

Test Of Loyalty

Despite all the recent "bad" press about reported safety-related problems, Audi still leads the way when it comes to owner loyalty, according to a survey by R.L. Polk & Co.

Audi, whose 5000-S model experienced acceleration problems prompting the company to institute a $5,000 rebate program, nevertheless has a 39-percent repurchase rate, meaning almost four out of 10 Audi owners who traded in their old cars bought another Audi.

In fact, with rebate checks in hand, many 5000-S owners went back to Audi dealers and bought new models.

Following close behind the West German automaker in brand loyalty for the third quarter of 1987 are Ford (38 percent), Chevrolet (34), Honda (33), Lincoln (30) and Cadillac (29). The loser in the domestic category was GM, falling off almost 6 percent. Among the Japanese imports, Subaru (down six points to 22 percent), Nissan (down four to 20 percent) and Toyota (down two to 25 percent) brought up the rear.

The Audi is available at A.E. Park Corp., 222 Lowell St., Lawrence 686-9743.

Andover Major Little League Lembo Fires One-hitter For Red Sox

Jeff Lembo struck out 15 and walked only three while firing a one-hitter at the Braves. The only Braves' hit came from Dan Hansberry in the top of the sixth inning.

two hits each from Sam McLelan, David Charland, Jon Iarrobino and Brian Firicano en route to a 16-0 victory while Tim McGovern had a bases-loaded double. Lembo has struck out 46 batters in 20 innings

The Red Sox ran their first half record to a perfect 6-0 to lead the American League Division. Last year's division champs got pitched this season. Outfielder Chris Sinitros, catcher Iarrobino and second baseman McGovern have played very well.

SOME TIPS FOR SELLERS

When selling your home, it's a good idea to be ready for appointments to show the house on short notice. Homeseekers on tight schedules usually are genuinely interested in buying and are more likely to make an offer than someone who will adjust his schedule to your convenience.

After the showing, the buyer may phone you for information or for a commitment that might be detrimental to your best interests. Rather than give any information, refer the buyer to your agent. Never let anyone into your home without an appointment. A sign in your front yard or a multiple listing should not change anything. Because your home is for sale doesn't mean it's wide open to the general public.

If there is anything we can do to help you in the field of real estate, please phone or drop in at THE HOWE AGENCY, 4 Pumphrey Ave., Andover, Phone: 475-5100. We're hard to help.

The Andover Condominiums Now Open

The Andover, one of the area's newest and most ambitious condominium developments, has opened its model home and sales office to the public. To celebrate the grand opening, the owners of The Andover will give away a full-size Maytag washer/dryer and free underground parking upon purchase of a two-bedroom home.

The 70 distinctive condominium residences that make up The Andover overlook the Shawsheen River to the west and the village of Andover to the east and combine the convenience and amenities of in-town living with the quiet New England country charm of Andover. The Andover is located across the street from the Boston commuter train stop and a relaxed two-minute walk from Andover Center.

The 66 two-bedroom and four one-bedroom homes offer large private balconies, sweeping views of downtown Andover and the surrounding countryside, modern health club and exercise facility and 20 different types of living units to choose from. The Andover's four, top floor penthouse units offer the additional luxury of private attached greenhouses.

Andover Condominiums

"The Andover offers a level of services and amenities that is usually only found in the city," says Gary Vrotsos, director of sales and marketing for the project. "And yet residents of The Andover will enjoy all the tranquility and beauty of living in one of the finest towns in New England at a very affordable price."

Condominiums at The Andover vary in size from 781 square feet to 1,975 square feet. Sales prices for one-bedroom units begin at $122,900 and two-bedroom units start at $147,900. Penthouse units are available for $262,900 to $309,000.

Home buyers at The Andover are eligible for 95 percent financing through a special agreement with Citicorp Mortgage, Inc. Buyers financing their home through Citicorp Mortgage, Inc. will not be required to pay the mortgage application fee and will be exempt from carrying private mortgage insurance.

According to Vrotsos, the homes are already selling briskly. "We have sold 26 units to date. Clearly, there is strong pent-up demand for affordable luxury housing in Andover," says Vrotsos.

The Boston architectural firm of Buck, Smith & McEvoy designed the building which features traditional red brick, highlighted by contrasting decorative brick bands, colorful balcony railings and a dramatic glass atrium entrance.

The Andover model home and sales office, located at 22 Railroad St., Andover, is open seven days per week and Tuesday and Thursday evenings.

said Byers. "They should be resolved before we take action."

With that, Byers asked Stapinski if he would like to withdraw the plan "without prejudice" for later consideration.

Stapinski pressed for an immediate decision, saying that his plan "conforms fully" to town standards.

"Despite the fact that you heard only negative comments from the board?" Byers replied.

Hearing no further comments from Stapinski, the board rejected the "Marland Hill" plans unanimously.

Sales Brisk At McKenna's Purchase

Luxury amenities, affordable pricing, a quality home and excellent location have been the reasons for the sales success at McKenna's Purchase, a master planned condominium community in Concord, N.H., announced Bob Martel, principal of Coldwell Banker, Robert F. Martel Real Estate, Inc. of Manchester, N.H., exclusive marketing agent for the development.

"The real estate market has become very competitive as of late and while potential homebuyers are scouting the marketplace they find that the affordable price, convenient location and the abundance of amenities and features that McKenna's Purchase offers makes it an excellent investment," he stated. "McKenna's Purchase offers an affordable price in the mid-$90,000s plus more features than any home in its price range. Combined with the excellent location, people are finding that McKenna's Purchase is their best purchase whether they're a first time homebuyer or retirees," notes Martel.

Developed by McKenna's Purchase, Inc., another James P. McKenna development, McKenna's Purchase can guarantee the quality construction and attention to detail that is a trademark of the more than 1,000 homes that McKenna has built over the past 25 years.

Prom

average cost per person is about $50.

Individual choice is the biggest factor affecting the amount of money spent on evening attire.

Some of the girls just buy a dress. Others add accessories, such as jewelry, purses and shoes. The cost of a dress ranges from $100 to $200, according to several students. Still others get their hair done professionally, and some opt to frequent tanning booths in preparation for the big night.

Tanning is a sizeable investment, but Steve Pappas, co-owner of Tropical Illusions, says he's gotten a lot of business from high school students.

Price is determined by the number of visits and the tanning salon. Prices ranged from $32 to $48 for 11 or 12 visits at local businesses.

Boys who rent tuxedos get a bonus—a $10 off coupon at three local rental shops. Prices range from $45 to $85 depending on the style. "Most of the guys pick out designer tuxedos," said Albert Cohen, owner of Mr. Tux. These cost around $60 to $65.

Still, the price tag of the whole thing hasn't stopped high schoolers from buying. "It's an expensive night, but kids go," Wilde said.

Conveniently located near schools, shopping, entertainment and dining, McKenna's Purchase is near major interstate routes and minutes from government and business centers in Concord. Concord offers a clean and pleasant environment with the potential business and industrial growth, yet is combined with rural country-like residential settings.

The two-story, two bedroom, 1½ bath townhomes offer many interior features, including plush wall-to-wall carpeting in living and dining areas, and functional kitchens offer European-styled oak laminate cabinetry, dishwasher, disposal and stove/oven combination with hood or optional microwave. The master bedroom suites feature adjacent bath and ample walk-in closets. Other features include central air conditioning and energy efficient heat, attached garage and full basement.

McKenna's Purchase offers attractively landscaped grounds with a community center that features a tennis court, indoor pool, meeting center and post office. All exterior maintenance, including landscaping, snow and trash removal are provided through Homeowners Association membership.

The fully decorated model home is open daily from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. or by appointment.

Perry

John's most memorable athletic moment at AHS was football related, but occurred on the basketball court.

"The Central game in the Christmas Basketball Tournament this year," he said. "We took them out in overtime (en route to the title) and redeemed ourselves from football."

"During the (basketball) game we could hear their fans chanting '7-0, 7-0, 7-0,' which was the score they beat us by in football. But we got back at them."

Interest was expressed in John by other Yankee Conference colleges like UMass., BU, UMaine and Ivy Leaguers Harvard, Brown and Cornell.

"UNH is a pass-oriented team and that's what I wanted," explained John. "They're looking for a couple wide receivers for (quarterback) Bobby Jean."

The Wildcats were second in passing in Division I-AA last season, averaging 41 passes per game. Jean reportedly threw 74 passes in one contest.

Those are the kind of figures John Perry likes.

"I didn't have a chance to go to their spring game, so the new offensive coordinator came to see me recently and told me what they wanted me to do this summer," said John.

In addition to throwing the football around and playing in the annual Shriners' Classic on June 17 at Boston College Alumni Stadium, John will also play some basketball in the Lawrence Recreation League and join the rest of the family working at the Perry's 200-seat restaurant, "Hudson's," in Hampton Beach near the Ashworth Hotel.

Dad backs off when asked to compare the athletic prowess of his sons.

"It's very hard to say who's the best," said Ernie. "They've all done very well. They're fun to watch and they've all given us (wife Barbara) a lot of pleasure."

Completing the clan are Louise, a senior at Salem State College, ninth grader Matt who plays football, basketball and runs track (miler), eighth grader Grace who was the MVP of a basketball tournament at Merrimack College this year, and fourth grader James who is just beginning to get a taste for it all.

About nine ounces of dirt is wiped, swept and vacuumed out of the average home every week.

EXPLORING A REAL ESTATE CAREER

Are you highly motivated? Are you a "people person"? Do you prefer unlimited earning capacity to the certainty of a modest pay check on a 9 to 5 job? Do you have good communication skills? Do you enjoy the prestige that goes with being a successful professional? If you can answer yes to these questions, you should consider a career in real estate sales.

Selling real estate isn't for everyone. Purchase agreements are among the most complicated contracts most people encounter, and there's a lot to learn. You must work hard and learn to understand how people operate under the stress of buying or selling a home. There's a lot of responsibility. Our agents are serving a most basic human need and they must offer highly skilled professional assistance involving large amounts of money and our clients' most valuable assets—their homes. To make it in this business, you must be not only competitive, but very, very competent.

For solid advice on buying or selling real estate, consult the professionals at Realty USA Schruender Real Estate. Please call us at 685-5000 or stop by our offices at 73 Chickering Road, North Andover.

Tribute To Korean Veterans At Services

Andover's Memorial Day services will be a special tribute to veterans of the Korean Conflict.

John Carroll, executive director of the Greater Lawrence American Red Cross, will be the principal speaker at the main service at Memorial Auditorium at 10 a.m., which will be preceded by a four division parade beginning on Park street, to Florence Street, to Elm Street, to Main street, up Chestnut Street to Memorial Auditorium.

Carroll came to the Greater Lawrence area 15 years ago after retiring from the U.S. Navy as commander. He served as carrier pilot and also specialized in the international relations field. He and his family served in both Spain and Argentina, finishing his career as a member of the staff of the chief of Naval operations.

He received a bachelor's degree from Villanova and master's degree from George Washington University.

Members of Andover American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars Posts will conduct memorial services at Andover cemeteries beginning at 7 a.m. The groups will meet at West Parish Cemetery at 7 a.m., St. Augustine Cemetery at 7:30 a.m. the American Legion monument at Spring Grove Cemetery at 8 a.m. and the G.A.R. monument at Spring Grove at 8:20 a.m.

Veterans of all wars have been invited by the Andover Patriotic Holiday Committee to join in the parade and services, whether in uniform or not.

John C. Doherty of the Andover V.F.W. will be master of ceremonies at the principal service with the opening prayer being given by Major William J. Mansfield, chaplain of the U.S. Army. Richard J. Bowen will give opening remarks and Jennifer Wu will recite 'In Flanders Field.' Ryan Kelley will present the 'Gettysburg Address,' to be followed by the presentation by the principal speaker. Margaret Gaw and Sarah Garrod of the VFW Auxiliary will place memorial wreaths and Major Manfield will give the benediction. Taps and echo will be played by St. David Arnold of the U.S. Air Force and Steven DeVoir of Andover High School.

Library Work Continues At Slow Pace

Library officials say work on the renovation of the Memorial Hall Library has gone slowly, which comes as no surprise to those who have been following the project over the past two years.

But, Head Librarian Nancy Jacobson says that light can be seen at the end of the tunnel with construction now about "80 percent complete."

Currently, crews are busy re-wiring, installing plumbing and doing other nuts-and-bolts work on the second phase of renovation.

Andover patrons got their first glimpse of the library's new look last December when about half of the newly-renovated building was opened to the public.

Reaction to the stylish new wing was generally positive, but the main complaints regarding the old library—cramped conditions, limited services—have lingered. Library staff, although working under better light and improved aesthetics have still had to deal with the cramming of most of the library's resources into about half the available space.

Planners

Neighbors on the Lawrence side of the border voiced fears over septic tank contamination and additional traffic.

Boardmember Susan Stott assured the Ridgewood Circle residents that town officials inspect construction sites to make sure septic systems are installed properly.

Soil evaluations made by the town have shown the area to be suitable for underground disposal systems.

Reunion

Yil Erdener, scholar in residence for the "Shifting Gears" project, is organizing a reunion of former Wood Mill employees and everyone who worked in the textile industry on Tuesday, June 7, from 1:30 p.m. to 3:30 p.m. at the Henry Fredette Senior Citizen Activity Center, 155 Haverhill St.

After a brief discussion of how people responded to the closing of the mills, Alex Demas, from the Lowell National Historical Park, will sing labor songs.

Refreshments will be served and free bus service will be provided from 339 Salem St. by the Lawrence Rehab.

The program is co-sponsored by the Mass Foundation for Humanities
